ACCEPT PLAN AS BASIS OF REDISCUSSION

Chinese and Japanese Representatives on League Agree to Proposal

DRAFTING COMMITTEE MEETS THIS MORNING

PARIS, Nov. 26 (AP).—China's League of Nations representative accepted tonight as a basis of rediscussion the League council's proposal for restoring peace in Manchuria.

Japan's spokesman likewise accepted the plan, with certain reservations, and the council appointed a committee to work over the proposal, originally submitted by Aristide Briand, in the hope of producing a formula acceptable to all concerned.

MUST ABANDON DEMAND

In the course of these secret meetings of the council leaders some official statements have been made giving little idea of what is actually going on, but it was understood in authoritative quarters that the Chinese realize ultimately they will have to abandon their demand that the council fix a definite date for evacuation of Manchuria by the Japanese army.

Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese member, was understood to have told Mr. Briand his Government was particularly anxious about Chinchow, the city in South Manchuria toward which the Japanese were reported advancing from Mukden.

WANTS NEUTRAL DEADLINE

He asked every possible measure be taken to prevent a clash at Chinchow and he renewed his suggestion that detachments from neutral forces in China establish a deadline between Chinchow and Mukden, past which the Japanese must not go.

ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

When today's private meeting of the council adjourned the following official communique was issued: "The members of the council held an exchange of views. In the hope that an agreement will be reached on the general lines of the preliminary draft communicated to the press yesterday, the council has appointed a drafting committee which will meet tomorrow morning.

"Further, the president of the council, in view of communications received from China and Japan regarding the situation in the neighborhood of Chinchow, consulted his colleagues as to measures which might be taken to prevent any danger of conflict."

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO LOAN MOUNT

Three-Day Total Is Eighty-Four Millions—Employees Co-operate

MONTREAL, Nov. 26 (CP).—A number of new and increased applications for part of Canada's National Service Loan were announced today. The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada subscribed $5,000,000; the Manufacturers' Life, Toronto, $2,000,000; Canadian Industries, Limited, $2,000,000; Continental Life, $1,000,000, and Excelsior Life, $250,000.

The loan committee officially announced that subscriptions in the first three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, totaled $84,000,000, which figure did not include any of today's requests.

PRIVATE INVESTORS AID

Orders during the day from private investors very substantially swelled the day's receipts in addition to the large number of institutional amounts. The committee was unable to make any official estimate as to the amount subscribed during the day.

A development of the campaign which promises important results came during the day with the announcement that a large number of firms and financial institutions were making arrangements to enable their employees to subscribe to the loan by installments. The companies would purchase bonds on behalf of the employees, receiving payment in regular amounts, in most cases spread over twelve months, it was stated.

FURTHER IMPETUS

The first of December is expected to give further impetus to subscriptions, as depositors will then be free to withdraw their savings deposits from banks without sacrificing any interest. Regular half-yearly contributions of interest on savings in the various banks is made at the end of November.

PREMIER IN HOSPITAL

HALIFAX, Nov. 26 (CP).—Hon. Gordon Harrington, Premier of Nova Scotia, was a patient in the hospital today. It was possible an operation would be necessary before he returns to his duties in the Ministry of Mines office, from which he directs Nova Scotia's affairs. Under the eye of his physician, the Premier last night underwent two operations, just before being driven to hospital.

Report Heavy Fighting Between Japanese and Bandits Near Mukden

Japanese Authorities Declare Danger Averted of Clash at Chinchow

GUNMEN IN TIENTSIN FIGHT WITH TROOPS

MUKDEN, Nov. 26 (AP).—Heavy fighting between Japanese troops and a force of several hundred Chinese "bandits" was going on today near the town of Ping Lopi, ten miles west of Mukden. Japanese army headquarters announced. Size of the Japanese detachment was not revealed. Reinforcements were dispatched from Chihuahua. Japanese authorities declared imminent danger of a clash at Chinchow, reported to be the centre of the latest concentration of Chinese troops, had been averted. A message received here from Taitshih said all Japanese troops had been withdrawn except for a small detachment.

ARRIVING AT CHANGCHUN

The main body of the mixed brigade which took part in last week's fighting that led to the capture of Taitshih was expected to arrive at Changchun tonight. The group detachment of the air force that participated in the battle reached Changchun this morning.

Yan Chin-Kai, head of the new Mukden Government, announced himself today in favor of a constitutional monarchy under the former boy-emperor, now known as Henry Pu-Yi. "Manchurians in general are not advanced enough to work out a republican system," he said.

FIGHTING AT TIENTSIN

PEIPING, Nov. 26 (AP).—Japanese troops were in action at Tientsin again this evening when gunmen mannequered near the foreign concessions. Light artillery and machine guns were used by the Japanese.

Reports reaching the headquarters of Chang Hsueh-Liang, deposed Governor of Manchuria, say about thirty shells were fired, one landing near the quarters of the civil governor and another near the mayor's office. The Japanese explained they fired because bullets had been entering the Japanese concessions.

WHITE MEN CARRY FOOD TO INDIANS

Thirteen Hundred Trapped by Blizzard in New Mexico—Several Frozen to Death

GALLUP, N.M., Nov. 26.—White men were toiling over snowbanks today, carrying food to 1,300 Navajo and Zuni Indians who are living on pinon nuts after being trapped by a blizzard on the high mesas of Malpais.

Four Indians, including one peace officer, have frozen to death. This was learned in the settlements last night when a band of horsemen who reached a Zuni village after struggling for hours through miles of deeply-drifted snow, returned here.

A family of three Navajos and a one man died in their camps near Atarque, they said. Fears were felt for the other families who were on the high mesas gathering pinon nuts when the storm enveloped them. They are thought to be huddled in open camps on the barren Table-Top Mountain with only wagon wheels for shelter.

The chief region of distress today seemed to be around Atarque, a village of about 300 persons. Unless food reaches the Indians of the Atarque region at once many will die of starvation and exposure, it was said.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP).—Lynne Felt, Hungarian screen actress, died at 1:05 a.m. today in Harbor Sanitarium, of pneumonia.

SEIZURE OF DOCUMENTS CAUSES STRIFE

Papers of a Treasonable Character Found in Hitlerite Homes

FORGERY ASSERTED BY NATIONAL SOCIALISTS

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP).—Police at Dinkshausen today said they had seized documents of a highly treasonable character in the homes of National Socialist leaders in Hesse, and tonight the whole country was in a state of high political excitement.

The National Socialists assert that the documents are forgeries and that the party knew nothing at all about them until police announced their discovery.

One version was that the documents outlined a plan of campaign to be adopted when the party goes into power. It calls for confiscation of foodstuffs, establishment of public kitchens, confiscation of private property and compulsory labor for all gentle Germans above the age of sixteen.

The Prime Minister this morning issued a statement in which he said these orders were to be applicable only if Communists should seize power, and the National Socialists could drive them out.

What interested the people more than anything else was whether the party actually advocates so extreme a programme as confiscation of bank accounts and abolition of private property. Should the seized documents be proved genuine, it probably would result in the loss of many members of the party.

QUALIFY ORDERS

In some quarters it was said that these orders were to be applicable only if Communists should seize power, and the National Socialists could drive them out.

On his behalf, Herr Goehring, Nazi member of the Reichstag, declared to the Minister of Interior that the administration of the party has strictly adhered to legal principles.

SNOW BLANKET IS WIDESPREAD

Thanksgiving in United States Has Traditional Background

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 26.—Snow blanketed a wide area in the West tonight from the Pacific Coast eastward to St. Louis, giving the traditional background for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The snow scene was painted with a wide splash during the day across the Texas Panhandle, Northern Oklahoma and Missouri for the first time this season.

Gaily lent to the holiday festivities was not without its tragic side. More than a dozen deaths were charged to the snow and cold in the mountain regions, and a party of motorists drowned in a rain-swollen creek near Tyler, Texas.

MUCH SUFFERING

There was much suffering among persons marooned, with little food and shelter. John Moody, a shepherd, was found dead from exposure near Glenrock, Wyo.

Among the missing were Robert Gordon and Billie Haines, fifteen-year-old boys, who were last seen leaving for school Tuesday. Search parties combed snowdrifts near Columbia Falls, Mont., for the missing.

A flock of 800 sheep wandered onto thin ice on a reservoir near Mats, Mont., during a storm and drowned.

CONCILIATION BOARD HEARINGS ARE ENDED

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Concluding with expressions of mutual regard for each other, disputants in the controversy regarding the proposed 10 per cent wage reduction for railway workers wound up their presentations before the conciliation board today. All evidence has now been placed in the hands of the board.

The board will now analyze the mass of material in its possession and will hold private conferences with parties to the dispute before finally submitting its report and recommendation to Hon. Gideon Robertson, Dominion Minister of Labor.

J. M. MacDonnell, chairman, intimated it was a live question and would be disposed of as quickly as possible.

RECORDS RECEIVED ON GRAND FORKS ORE SHIPMENT

GRAND FORKS, Nov. 26.—Averaging more than $500 a ton for a fifty-five-ton shipment of ore from the Union Mines here, the Hecla company has received net returns of $44,178 from a car shipped to the Bunkerhill smelter. Smelter assays for the entire ore shipment were 41.65 ounces of gold per ton, 18.65 ounces of silver, 7.65 per cent lead, 9.05 per cent zinc, and 0.98 per cent copper.

BRITISH HOUSE WILL PLACE QUOTA ON IMPORTS OF WHEAT

New Agrarian Policy Will Give Protection to British Farmer—Nonessential Articles of Agricultural Produce to Be Subject to Tariffs, Announces Ramsay MacDonald

Resolution for Duties to Be Introduced on Monday

Australian Customs and Excise Duties Validated Until February 25 Next

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 26 (CP).—Prime Minister J. H. Scullin today told the House of Representatives that Governor-General Sir Isaac Isaacs had accepted his advice to dissolve Parliament, the House of Representatives and half of the Senate, and that elections for both Houses would be held on December 19.

The Prime Minister this morning issued a statement in which he said that the Government had decided to introduce a measure to reduce imports of "certain" nonessential articles of agricultural produce by means of tariff levies. This would be aimed at such early crops as peas, potatoes, lettuce, strawberries and cut flowers which mature earlier in some countries than in Great Britain, Holland, France, Germany and Belgium ship them in considerable quantities.

LEAVES ON NONESSENTIALS

The Minister of Agriculture said the quota would be made effective to next year's crop. He added, also, the Government had decided to introduce a measure to reduce imports of "certain" nonessential articles of agricultural produce by means of tariff levies. This would be aimed at such early crops as peas, potatoes, lettuce, strawberries and cut flowers which mature earlier in some countries than in Great Britain, Holland, France, Germany and Belgium ship them in considerable quantities.

No Government subsidy will be involved in the wheat quota plan, Sir John said. The probable effect of the quota is difficult to forecast, but it is agreed generally that the United States and Argentina farmers will be affected. It was specified what proportion of British wheat will be made obligatory in mixtures with foreign grain, but it has been suggested it will be 15 per cent.

MUST WAIT FOR ANSWER

Rt. Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, former Secretary of State for the Colonies, asked if the Government's scheme would cover imports of canned and bottled vegetables and fruits, and whether any decision had been reached on wheat quota principle to include Empire wheat.

Sir John replied that Mr. Amery would have to wait for his answer until the introduction of the bill.

Two Killed Going Home From Dance

NOVATO, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP).—Two Tampabay Union High School students were killed and their nine companions in a light sedan were injured near here today when the machine skidded and overturned on the highway as the party was returning home from a Thanksgiving Eve dance at Petaluma.

The overloaded car, State traffic officers said, skidded at a turn on the wet highway, overturning three times.

CHIROPRACTORS FOUND GUILTY

Fines of $25 Imposed for Using Title "Doctor"—Will Appeal

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—Seven Vancouver chiropractors and drugless healers—Walter Sturdy, H. B. Simonsen, G. F. Moore, Gilbert H. Young, D. W. Campbell, W. J. Budnick and H. Hepburn—were found guilty by Police Magistrate G. A. McQueen this afternoon for unlawfully using the title "doctor." Each was fined $25 and costs.

FOUND INTRA VIRES

Magistrate McQueen declared that he found the amendment to the Medical Act, under which information was laid by the Medical Council, was intra vires, and that the facts had been proved.

A. M. Manson, K.C., counsel for the Medical Council which instituted the proceedings, stated that there was no proceeding under which his clients to be harsh with the accused. He thought that a $75 fine for each would be adequate.

J. W. deR. Harris, Mary Cogswell and J. D. McPhee, counsel for the accused, urged that the whole question was under review of a royal commission, and that under the circumstances the minimum penalty would be sufficient.

DR. CLEM DAVIES DECLINES HONOR

Pastor of City Temple Here Declines to Accept Offer of Nomination for Mayoralty

Rev. Dr. Clem Davies, pastor of the City Temple, has definitely withdrawn from the campaign of municipal politics, he stated last night.

Dr. Davies, almost a week ago was requested by a number of influential citizens to allow his name to go before the electorate as a candidate for the mayoralty. He declined at that time to give a definite answer and asked for a few days to consider.

Late last night he gave out the following statement, which fully explains his reasons for declining a nomination:

"While the City Temple board has very generously left me a free course to run for the mayoralty or not, as I choose, I could not see my way clear to do so at this time, after considering the question from every angle.

"We have just completed our new auditorium, and the times through which we are living make close application necessary to one's life work. The call for my assistance in the civic field has been very insistent during the past two weeks, but I am not in a position to heed it just now.

"I shall, however, be at the disposal of the city to help and advise in any way in which I am needed," Dr. Davies stated.

REGRETS NECESSITY

Lord Buckmaster, a former Liberal Chancellor of the Exchequer, regretted the necessity of the bill. He believed the free growth of the Empire would have been impeded, less, if it had not been introduced, but nevertheless, he was prepared to support the measure.

Lord Stonehaven, former Governor-General of Australia, believed the precise definition of a Dominion, as set forth in the bill, would be a useful guide in considering the form of the Indian Constitution.

TEACHING AID WILL BE LESS

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe Gives Plain Intimation to School Boards

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, gave fair warning yesterday that Government grants in aid of teachers' salaries will have to be reduced next year. The increased grants allocated this year could not be maintained in the light of all circumstances, and school boards will be officially notified in December of the proposed proportion that the Government will contribute next year.

Mr. Hinchliffe stated that the Government could continue the basis of its payments for the next year on a modification of the interim plan which has been followed this year, with a downward revision where necessary. The teachers' salary committee, he added, could not get down to work as early as expected, particularly as there was no desire to rush completion of any new arrangement without adequate opportunity for all views to be heard.

TEACHING GRANTS
It had previously been thought, he said, that the salary committee being formed by provincial suggestion could act in time to permit municipal bodies to take cognizance of any resultant action the Government might take. It was now clear that this could not be, and instead the Government will continue on a basis of its own in respect to teaching grants, as quite distinct from teachers' salaries, which are still subject of contracts and individual arrangement between the teachers and school boards.

All that the Government proposed to do was to express definitely within the next few weeks what amount could be given in teaching grants next year. Boards would be notified of this proportion, which will be less than paid this year. On this basis, Government assistance to schools can be planned and municipal budgets prepared accordingly. The lowered grants will have no way affect salaries, as far as the Government is concerned. This action, he said, followed conference with officials of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Chang Hsueh-liang ordered the Chinese authorities to avoid any kind of conflict. The gunmen, who were in a state of confusion, were restored in 10 p.m.

TOKIO, Nov. 26 (AP).—War Office received a telegram from Japanese commander, Kashi, at Tientsin, saying the Chinese attacked the Japanese concession at 10:40 o'clock this evening and the Japanese were retreating in self-defence.

RUSH REINFORCEMENTS
TOKIO, Nov. 27 (AP).—At an urgent conference of military authorities today it was decided to rush reinforcements from Japan to Tientsin.

This decision was subject to the approval of the Cabinet, which went into session to determine what stand it would take.

The military authorities decided reinforcements were necessary after the War Office received information that the Chinese had attacked the Japanese concession.

The Tientsin outbreak caused a tremendous stir in Tokyo just at a time when official circles had declared there was greatest hope of a solution of the Manchurian question.

TOKIO, Nov. 27 (AP).—A Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Tientsin this morning said the Italian garrison was responding to a Chinese bombardment laid down on the Italian concession soon after the Chinese had attacked the Japanese concession.

HAS INSTALLED BRITISH EXPERT

Newfoundland to Adopt Economical System of Handling Money

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Nov. 26 (CP).—Announcing that the Newfoundland Government had accepted the resignation of J. S. Keating, Deputy Minister of Finance, and installed J. H. Peniston, of the British Treasury Department, to carry on the work under a new system, Premier Sir Richard Squires today made the following statement:

"The Government has decided to inaugurate a new and improved system of financial control which will insure greater efficiency and economy in the expenditure of public money. The present system, which has existed ever since Newfoundland obtained responsible government, has been the cause of considerable waste of public funds."

FINANCES MUST BE SAFEGUARDED

Imperial Government May Have to Demand Even
Machinery in India

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP).—Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India, blathered that the Government would turn over India's army and finances to the Indian Legislature, in a speech at the Round Table Conference today.

"Since the First Round Table Conference the world has come into a financial blizzard," he said, "and looking directly at Mahatma Gandhi, 'and if anything, we may be obliged to demand even more rigid machinery to insure safeguarding India's finances."

"In any contemplated transfer of finances, the people to be convinced are the bankers, traders and investors, who are very cautious people, and particularly nervous of politicians' changes."

"The British Government wants an All-India Federation to have the greatest possible measure of financial independence within its own sphere," he said, "but until the Indian Government can provide sufficient capital for defence and for salaries and pensions, control of its finances must rest with the home authorities."

PREMIER IS INJURED

BELIEVE THREE HAVE PERISHED

Hope Abandoned for Nurse,
Prospector and Hunter
Lost in Woods

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26 (CP).—With all hope of their safety abandoned after weeks of unremitting search by Provincial Police, trappers, prospectors and game wardens, three persons, two men and one woman, are now believed to have perished in the timbered mountainous country north and east of here. They are: Miss Mary Warburton, sixty-year-old nurse, unreported since she set out on foot to travel over a mountain trail from Squamish at the head of Howe Sound to Indian River, north of here; J. A. "Volcanic" Brown, eighty-year-old prospector, last seen in August when he started out from his camp at the head of Pitt Lake, east of Vancouver, for the headwaters of the Upper Stave River on a prospecting trip; and Oscar Sneesh, of Mission City, missing since he embarked on a deer hunting expedition several days ago. Each have been the object of intensive but unsuccessful search.

TROUBLE BREWS OVER RACE RULE

Natal Determined to Keep Local Provincial Government Control

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 26.—In Natal, the garden province of South Africa discovered by Vasco da Gama, they are getting hot under the collar because Prime Minister General Hertzog has promised that as soon as the necessary legislation can be introduced the provincial council system of government will be abolished.

At first glance this may indeed seem a very mild grievance, but actually it cuts deeply into racial feeling, which is still the driving force behind post of South Africa's political movement.

WHY COUNCILS FORMED

When the two former republics, the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, joined with the two British colonies, Province, and Cape Province, to form the Union of South Africa in 1909, Natal, which is ninety-five per cent British, saw that a South African Parliament must necessarily be sixty-five per cent Dutch. This did not please the Natalians. In order to meet their objection a system of state government was devised whereby the provincial councils raise their own taxes and administer virtually all services except the army and the railroad, which are controlled by the Union or Federal Government. Up to a point this system worked very well. The dominance of the English language was secured in three hours. A C.P.R. box car spotted on the canny siding was partially demolished.

PLAN TO SAVE MONEY

And so General Hertzog and his colleagues have come to believe that a country with such a small population as South Africa's would be much better off with one Government instead of five—and much money would be saved. Hence his decision to abolish the provincial councils.

It will be seen, however, that the same reasons exist today as in 1909 for Natal's desire to govern itself. The Natalians do not want the Boers controlling local affairs. At the moment they are threatening to burn the South African flag and start a civil war, but, of course, the latter idea is fantastic and futile.

A more general threat in secession from the South African Union, but here again it is nothing more than a threat. Carried into practice it would spell economic ruin for Natal.

Natal cannot produce anything that is not grown in the rest of South Africa except sugar, and sugar can be obtained from Cuba more cheaply than from Natal.

As close to this then, that while serious political trouble looms between Natal and the rest of South Africa, the talk of civil war can safely be disregarded.

Nobody Hurt When Meeting Bombed

HAVANA, Nov. 26 (AP).—A political meeting of members of the Liberal party in Santa Amalia Park broke up in disorder here late last night when two bombs exploded. No one was hurt.

TOMATO CANNERY BURNED
KAMLOOPS—The old Arrow Lakes lumber mill, a landmark, operating as a tomato cannery east of the city, was totally destroyed by fire recently. Insurance of $10,000 on the building and $12,000 on the contents was carried by the owner, C. F. Bickford. Cases of tomatoes bursting made it dangerous for firemen, who battled for more than three hours. A C.P.R. box car spotted on the canny siding was partially demolished.

LONG-DELATED PAYMENT
PENTICTON—Magistrate G. F. Guernsey, of Penticton, after a wait of forty-one years, has received from a grateful government his gratuity for services in the North West Mounted Police. Magistrate Guernsey says he received the sum of $800. The original grant to those who served in the North West Mounted Police, over other than the North West Mounted Police, was eighty acres of land, in the form of scrip. The land was valued at $1 per acre. The money received by the magistrate, therefore, includes the original $80 and interest for forty-one years. Magistrate Guernsey says there are only six veterans of the Mounted Police living who will receive this gratuity.

WOMAN'S DREAM LEADS TO BATTLE
CROWD OF Italian Villagers Take Image From Sanctuary—Leader Is Thrown Into Jail
ROME, Nov. 26 (CDN).—A crowd of fervent peasants recently battled with police in the village of Andria, near Bari, just because of a dream. Following several months of drought, which caused great damage to the local crops, a woman living in Andria had a dream in which the local image of Christ appeared to her and told her that the local population must do penance in order to bring rain.

Accordingly a crowd of the faithful gathered in the piazza and marched to the sanctuary in which the image was kept, with the intention of carrying it through the streets. The sacristan objected vigorously and called for help, but the determined peasants carried out their plan.

Finally, after parading the streets for some time, they delivered the image to the local church, where the nervous priests received it. The hard-hearted local chief of police unceremoniously threw the leader of the procession into jail to wait for rain, which at last reports was still to come.

CIVIC REGIME IS ATTACKED

Speakers at Ratepayers' Association Meeting Score Expenditures

In a barrage of criticism against the present method of civic administration and a definite attack on expenditures which, it was declared, had gone beyond the stage of silent forbearance, candidates sponsoring a taxation reduction programme of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association addressed a well-attended meeting at Quadra School last night.

Frank Higgins, K.C., pilot of the city's infant organization in civic politics, led the attack on what he termed "a deficiency of responsibility of the city's legislators." He attacked the various measures advanced by the City Council during the past year, dealing mainly with airport and Dandenell schemes.

"BIG BUSINESS," Frank Le Roy, candidate for the mayoralty, denied that he was ever a "peanut vendor," and intimated that if one man could make $50,000, which he was supposed to have accumulated, he was a man of "big business." He did, however, agree with his critics that he had operated four clear stores and a wholesale business. "That $50,000 I made was placed into property in Victoria, and while I have lost some of it, I am still confident that my investment will be safe, with a safe and sound administration," he said.

Joseph North, who was present at the meeting, attempted to interrupt the address of Mr. Le Roy. Frank Higgins, who was chairman, threatened to have Mr. North removed from the hall "if you don't behave yourself." Mr. North's reply was: "That's what I'm trying to do."

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. J. B. Howell.

DEMANDS ECONOMY
 In his address, Mr. Higgins pointed out that civic conditions had reached a stage where it had become necessary for the ratepayers to openly demand that expenditures on pet schemes be stopped, and to foster a policy of rigid economy where the expenditures could be kept within the revenue and thus eliminate the need of continual borrowing.

Loans became a mortgage on your property. Make the City Council spend the money the way we want it spent. They may be pretty good sailors, but mightily poor pilots to steer us through the present times we are now experiencing."

MENTIONS OPPONENTS
 Referring to other candidates in the field, Mr. Higgins said: "Leeming, Woodward and Andrews have all been aldermen and have had a hand in piling up this burden of taxation on our homes. We are struggling to shake off that heavy load. We will never do so by putting either of these candidates back into power. They have had their day and failed us, and will fail us again if given the chance, because neither of them, as shown by their propaganda in this election, has the mind or courage to conceive or carry out a definite and concrete policy of economy such as we find in the platform of our ratepayers' association for the relief of our taxpayers."

"Their past public records show that they are not the right men for the job at this crisis. They may be fair weather sailors, but they are poor pilots for us to rely on to steer us through the rough weather that envelops us. Their methods are not our methods. Their principles are not our principles. New things demand new measures and new men."

"CANNOT BE FOOLED"
 "Ratepayers cannot be fooled all the time," said Frank Le Roy in the course of his remarks. "It is not necessary to have a chart to show that a man's taxes are greater than his ability to pay. It is in very well for the council to call a meeting at the last hour to tell you what they have done in the past year. It is nothing but a post-mortem meeting in which the members will tell you what they tried to do and not what they intended to do."

Mr. Le Roy denied that the candidates of the Ratepayers' Association had been selected by "hole in the corner methods." He said that the selection had been made openly and above board by the executive charged with the responsibility by 400 members of the association. Mr. Le Roy took occasion to refer to his opponents for the mayoralty.

OTHER CANDIDATES
 Other candidates were given an opportunity to address the voters. Lieke, J. M. Monk, candidate for school trustees, explained his reasons for accepting the platform of the Ratepayers' Association. Colonel Monk reviewed the 1930 financial report of the corporation, dealing specially with the cost of school administration.

Mrs. Julia de Blaquiere, also a candidate for the school board, stated she had been requested to make known her position in respect to the Oriental problem and the schools. "The Oriental problem is one for the Legislature to decide," she said.

REVERTED LOTS
 Adolph Lancaster, candidate for alderman, stated he would give the reverted lots in the city to workingmen, the city supplying the necessary building materials at cost to enable them to erect homes and in that way bring all properties into the revenue bearing column. He said he considered the city's business should be run the same as any other business.

Captain Burgess Gadsden, who is seeking one of the aldermanic seats, and his reasons for accepting the pledge of the association. He referred to the Middle Ages often because it was knightly times.

Radical Wing Change

FOLLOWING the exact lines of vultures and other large soaring birds, with which previous experiments have been successfully conducted, the initial wind tunnel model of an odd, bird-like airplane is completed in Los Angeles as the first step preparatory to building a full-sized ship. The peculiar design of the new model is expected to cause it to duplicate the "thrust" of the real birds' feathers which enables them to sail directly into the wind without effort. In previous experiments mummified bodies of vultures, from which the new ship was designed, have been adjusted so as to move without power directly into the thirty-mile air current of the wind tunnel.

STRATEGY USED IN POLICE RAID

Chinese Given Surprise Visit by Inspector J. T. Boulton and Squad

The ingenuity of the Occident was pitted against the cunning of the Orient when a squad of city police, headed by Inspector J. T. Boulton, raided an alleged gambling place on the east side of Fan Tan Alley last night. Forty-eight Chinese were taken in the raid and charged with being found in a common gaming house. They all were released in $10 bail.

The place was approached from only one entrance, and through the adroitness of one of the squad the corps of police was able to make entry without battering down a single door or searching for any of the secret exits by which many Chinese make their escape when surprised.

Heading the squad besides Inspector Boulton were Sergeants Robert Ireland and Benjamin Acreman. Those of the squad were Constables Claude Belcher, R. P. Luning, Roy Woolsey, George Clay and Douglas Bone.

Conspicuous in the raid and in plain clothes before the raid and was disguised. Thus did he make his entry to the alleged gambling place, giving the squad an unbarred entry to the establishment. Those at the tables were taken completely by surprise and had no chance to escape, as is usually the case. A considerable quantity of alleged lottery tickets, fan tan cards and gambling paraphernalia was seized.

MAN INJURED IN WOODYARD

F. T. Tapscott Was Playing With Dog When Struck Down by Truck

F. T. Tapscott, of Whittier Avenue, was struck down by a truck and badly injured at his woodyard on Alpha Street, yesterday evening. He was playing with his dog at the time.

Mr. Tapscott was taken in the C. and C. ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated by Dr. W. H. Moore for a fractured right hip.

Hospital attendants report Mr. Tapscott resting comfortably.

"REV. DOCTOR" IS BEHIND THE BARS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—"Rev. Dr." Alfred Ernest George Hall, erstwhile self-appointed chaplain of the Cuyahoga County Jail, languished within a barred cell last night on order of Federal immigration authorities.

Attention was directed at Hall yesterday when Common Pleas Judge George P. Baer ordered the "chaplain" barred permanently from his courtroom after Hall insisted upon appearing in behalf of a considerable number of accused, and ordered his record probated.

Last night, Hall, according to county and Federal authorities, admitted a long criminal record and the fact he twice had been deported from the United States. John D. Northrup, immigration inspector, ordered "Dr." Hall held for United States immigration authorities.

JOURNALIST IS LECTURE THEME

Prof. A. C. Cooke, M.A., Speaks at Victoria College on C. E. Montague

An outline of the ideals of "a disenchanted idealist," Charles Edward Montague, journalist, author, and athlete, who served in the army during the war, was given by Prof. A. C. Cooke, M.A., of the University of British Columbia, in his appreciative critical analysis of Montague and his work, presented last night at Victoria College for the University Extension Association.

BIOGRAPHICAL
 The address was partly biographical, partly a dissection of Montague's publications: "A Hind Let Loose," "Disenchantment," (1922), "Flery Particles" (1923), "The Right Place" (1924), "Rough Justice" (1926), and "Right Off the Map" (1927). In his early influences, via a quiet and cultured home with good books, the companionship of his parents and several brothers, and wholesome outdoor games, in his subsequent life at the City of London school and at Oxford, the lecturer found the source of Montague's character and high ideals.

In his books, chiefly, were found the utterances which gave concrete expression to these, although in his personal life he had demonstrated them. His post-war books, breathing disillusionment, betraying scepticism of political and governmental groups, yet reflecting a deep-rooted confidence in the inherent beauty, sincerity, and goodness of man, the individual, furnished the speaker with the major part of his material, numerous quotations being read.

THE REAL MAN
 The real Montague, Professor Cooke maintained, was not to be discovered by sampling his style nor by chronicle of the events of his life. His importance both as a writer and as a man was to be judged by considering the things in which, in his books, he seemed to be chiefly interested, and these were education, morality, religion, the war, and reconstruction. Of morality in its commoner sense he seldom spoke, but through Gertrude and others of his characters he revealed a code which called for honesty, sincerity, and purity of life.

The speaker dwelt at some length on Montague's attitude toward war, which, while unable to reconcile with the teachings of Christ, he felt impelled to serve because he was a patriot; for the duration of the fighting he deliberately put his Christianity, in this respect, in the background, pledging himself to return to it after hostilities came to an end. His sportsman's code that "one must keep one's end up," carry one's own share, impelled him to his action temporarily his deep-rooted faith in Christianity teachings.

SPIRITUAL AGONY
 War to him "was the negation of all he loved and believed in," and he suffered intense agony as he looked beneath the surface and saw the heartlessness, self-interest, carelessness, favoritism, or desire for gain which were the cause of critical mistakes and needless suffering. As the war progressed he saw how the normal moral standards were by the board, the only thing which mattered being to win.

"Like Shakespeare, he seems to have experienced everything that befell other men and to have been able to express it better than the poet," Prof. Cooke, in commenting on Montague's power for realistic writing.

WORKROOM WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Plans Drawn Up at Meeting Last Night to Assist Cause of Unemployed Women

Starting on Sunday, all those interested in the Unemployed Women's Workroom scheme will devote their energies to the success of what is to be known as "Workroom Week." Plans for this were drawn up at the meeting of the committee held last night at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Arthur W. Hall, in the chair, when it was announced that the following activities had already been arranged in behalf of the funds which are required to carry on a work which is meeting with general approval.

Wednesday, December 2, silver tea at the home of Mrs. James Fletcher, York Place, by ladies' auxiliary of Y.W.C.A.; Friday, December 4, bazaar and sale of work at the Y.W.C.A., under the patronage of Mrs. Honore the Lieutenant-Governor; Saturday, December 5, tag day. At the silver tea on Wednesday, Mayor Herbert Anscomb will make an appeal on behalf of the workroom, Miss Merle North will sing, and Miss Edna Jacques will recite some of her own verses. At the bazaar at the Y.W.C.A. on Friday will be offered for sale some of the attractive needlework, dolls, and seasonal articles which have been made in the workroom.

Last night the treasurer reported that the funds in hand were less than $500, which is barely sufficient to operate the rooms for ten days, as wages amounting to approximately $50 daily are paid to the workers. Up to the present a total of $2,210 had been donated, of which more than $2,000 had been paid out in wages to the workers.

GROWTH OF TAXATION
A growing realization among all Governments is that the time has come when a period must be put to the growth of taxation. In other words, there has been too much spendthrift zeal in administration, and at last those in authority are putting their ears to the ground and appreciating the trend of public opinion. Growing taxation has been one of the causes of retarding prosperity; it has, in fact, contributed to depression, and out of depression the anomalous condition has arisen of a demand for new expenditures involving new taxation to meet the needs of the time. The whole trouble lies in the paternalism in government which has become a settled policy of the age; in the social services which sections of the people keep on demanding; in the belief, so fondly fostered, that the State should become a universal provider and swallow up in the process individualism and initiative.

How taxation is growing in Canada is illustrated, at least in part, by a comparison of total taxation returns as between the years 1922 and 1929 as follows:

Dominion Government	$35,241,341	$378,551,626
Provincial Governments	47,242,405	85,589,240
Municipal Governments	206,833,211	268,270,824

The foregoing figures show that in the space of seven years there has been an increase of 12.8 per cent in Federal taxation, 80.6 in Provincial taxation, and 29.7 in Municipal taxation. The Provincial Governments have been the worst offenders. With them administrative extravagance is most marked. The figures explain the warning issued by the Canadian Bankers' Association regarding the need for caution in provincial and municipal borrowing. That association suggests that the administrations in question do not seem to have familiarized themselves sufficiently with financial conditions. In effect, they either do not know or have given too little thought to the capacity of the country to finance the works proposed or in process of construction. Canada, in these respects, must now be self-supporting. It is no longer possible to borrow money from foreign sources.

The Citizens' Research Bureau throws some light on municipal conditions. It notes that nine out of fifteen Western municipalities increased per capita taxation in 1930, while only one in thirty-six in Ontario, and only one out of fourteen in Quebec failed to show increases. It is emphasized in the discussion of the affairs of sixty municipalities that in fifty of them uncollected taxes were greater in 1930 than in 1929, and that is an indication of an all too general tendency. It is the symptom which shows a silent revolt against the increases in taxation going on all the time. It is a symptom which administrations are only beginning to realize, but which must ultimately be recognized in all its significance. In other words, the time has come for a reversion by government to proven economic principles. There must be a new limit placed on expenditures, commensurate with the ability and willingness of the people to pay.

FAILURE OF INDIAN CONFERENCE

M. Gandhi has been uncompromising throughout the course of the Indian Round Table Conference. He has not been captain of his own soul, as he has been the mouthpiece of the National Congress, and that Congress has made its motto throughout "no surrender" to the Moslem demands. In other words, what has been fought for by M. Gandhi is Hindu autonomy in India, a condition which Britain would not be justified in permitting either on the grounds of her own position or in justice to civilization itself. M. Gandhi has adopted the pose, inspired by the National Congress, that he represents India as a whole. He has been the "big stick" attitude. He will not admit that the British laid down by the Congress are regarded with suspicion, and even with hate, by nearly every section of the Indian population, apart from the Hindus.

The problem in India today is not merely one of irreconcilable differences between the Hindus and Moslems. It is something far greater. It is an attempt of Hinduism to fasten on India an autonomous experiment which has complete separation from the British Empire as its goal. The methods adopted are those of menace, for the threat is voiced again and again that if M. Gandhi's mild non-co-operation is not followed, that is the threat which will be resorted to. That is the threat which has been held over the Round Table Conference ever since its conception. M. Gandhi did not go to London to settle the Indian problem in a spirit of co-operation, but with the threat of non-co-operation in the effort to attain his ends. The National Congress will not admit that the communal problem has developed, as The Calcutta Englishman says, into "a revolt of every other community against the attempt to replace the good government of a British bureaucracy by the bad government of a Brahmin oligarchy."

M. Gandhi does not understand the British mentality. His methods of argument have always been accompanied by veiled threats. That is the most dangerous of all possible ways to bring about any settlement in which Britain is involved. M. Gandhi refuses to see any viewpoint but his own. Wholly untrained himself in the art of government, he has attempted to decree the character of the government which should be fastened on 350,000,000 people, irrespective of any unanimity of opinion among the Indians themselves. His hatred of Britain gives every evidence of surpassing his love of India, or else he would be more concerned about home rule of a character which would commence under the auspices of possible success. M. Gandhi goes back to India to promote passive rebellion against British rule. The Round Table Conference has failed, as it was bound to fail, because of the uncompromising attitude of Hinduism. It is quite on the cards that all those sections of Indian thought that have opposed the Hindu claims will not be content to submit meekly in the future to the non-co-operation propaganda of M. Gandhi and his colleagues. On the contrary, they may give active support to Britain in all legitimate efforts to promote peace and security in India.

THE LEAGUE AND MANCHURIA

The developments in Manchuria have proved that the League of Nations' activities in preventing aggressive action on the part of any first class Power reside in having the machinery to investigate disputes and deal with them by court of law process. So far as taking any action to enforce a settlement, the League seems to be powerless. It has no machinery for doing anything of the kind. It cannot ask any single nation to intervene; it will not ask all the signatory nations to take action jointly. It is quite obvious that no Power would obey any behest to send warships and troops to enforce China's objections to Japan's military actions. Moral suasion has failed. There has developed, therefore, a new conception of the power of the League of Nations.

In Manchuria, military power is the dominating factor. Japan has not hesitated in pursuing the path which she regards as a necessary one so as to clear up, as permanently as possible, the differences which have been accumulating with China. While the League debates, Japanese troops advance and consolidate their positions. China awaits League action, and waits in vain. The whole situation is a melancholy reflection on the late President Wilson's conception of what a League of Nations should be. It is true that in his historic "Fourteen Points," he stressed the efficacy of self determination. That is exactly the policy that Japan is following, which goes to prove that President Wilson could not foresee the implications of a doctrine which, at the time of its promulgation, captivated public opinion.

AMERICA'S BUDGET DEFICITS

A Washington dispatch says that the deficit in the United States budget for the current fiscal year has now passed $800,000,000. The problem before that Government is where to go for new money at the present time. In this respect, so far, the United States has not begun to grasp with any certitude the great issue with which she is confronted. In effect what is happening is that her revenue is running far below expenditure. Last fiscal year her budget deficit was approximately $900,000,000. The present fiscal year bids fair to show a deficit of at least $1,500,000,000 by June 30, 1932. Her public finances will be badly disarranged, unless in the meantime drastic steps are taken. It is either a question of new loans, or else sweeping economies accompanied by new taxation, as has been the case in Britain. Of the situation The New York Times says:

"Ours is in far worse plight than ever was the British budget. We know what happened in London when there was need of restoring confidence by showing that the Government was determined to make both ends meet. Not only were expenditures cut down so far as they could be, but heavy new taxes were laid. In the end this is what we shall have to come to in this country. The resort to new levies may be disagreeable, but it will be necessary. Politicians will do their best to avoid it on the eve of a Presidential election, but unsettled or disordered public finance has no pity for the repose of a President or his party."

In Quebec a commission has been proposed to inquire into municipal borrowings. This is a result of civic outlays having run riot and a feeling that the time has come to call a halt. Probably the same course of procedure should be followed by other municipalities. It should be checked, not only municipalities, but that should be checked, but progressively greater than those of any other administrations.

STARRY MANTLES

Of stary mantles hung on high
In the rich wardrobe of the sky
I sing; and I would sing of all
On whom the stary mantles fall
Unseen, unheard, through ether bright
My dear old ones, the night;
Of oceans when their thunders cease
And their wild leagues are lapped in peace;
My dear old ones, the clear and cool,
Untroubled lake and dreaming pool;
Of shy-glancing leaves where trees
Are undisturbed by any breeze;
And, like brimmed waters in a cup,
My dear old ones, when she looks up—
For souls whose quiet nothing mars
Put on by night a robe of stars.

Great ambition is the passion of a great character. He who is endowed with it may perform either very great or very mean actions; all depends upon the principles which direct him.—Napoleon.

Note and Comment

A heart to receive, a head to contrive, and a hand to execute.—Gibson.
No more of that. Hal, an thou lovest me!
—Shakespeare.

The individual who cannot adjust himself to changing circumstances is not likely to become of great importance to himself or to the world. Neither can the nation which continues to remain static in the midst of a dynamic world for that matter. For almost half a century Great Britain remained in a static state in the midst of a changing economic system; but the people of Great Britain were blind to the changing conditions in the world and rejected the Imperial preferential trade policy of Joseph Chamberlain.

For about a quarter of a century Canada had lain in a political and economic static state in the midst of a world of change if not of progress. The policy of protection domestic natural and manufactured products adopted by Sir John A. Macdonald was the policy (with very slight modifications) of every succeeding Canadian Government, beginning with the administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and ending with the administration of Mr. William Lyon Mackenzie King.

When the King Government was defeated and was succeeded by the Bennett Government, the static political and economic condition in Canada was changed from a dead or static state to a living or dynamic state. When the Socialist Government of Great Britain fell in ruins it was succeeded by a Government of a different kind, and a political and economic condition was established which created a sensation that reverberated throughout the world and shook some of the nations to their political and economic foundations. The political leaders of the dominant trading nations of the world could not credit the evidence of their eyes when they read in the papers the startling news that Great Britain, which for nearly a century had maintained the only free market in the world, upon which they depended for the sale of their surplus products, was about to become, and that very quickly, a protectionist country, that a policy of protection for home industries, with a preference for Imperial products, was to be adopted immediately.

We do not care whether you are a Tory politician, a Liberal politician, or an intellectually superior person who despises all mere politicians, you cannot successfully dispute the statement that it was Mr. R. B. Bennett, the statesman who was derided for saying that he would blast his way into more remunerative and more permanent markets for Canadian products; that it was Mr. Bennett who applied the match to the charge whose tremendous explosion shook the business world to its foundations and shocked the statesmen of most of the nations. If there are still some Canadians who affect to despise politicians and disdainfully protest that politics are beneath their consideration, may we be permitted to suggest that politics have taken on an altogether new and larger aspect and are worthy of the deepest attention of all Canadians and of all Britons. If politics in the past actually have been petty in many aspects, they have at last become Imperial in one of their aspects. The National Policy of Canada has broadened and developed until it has become an Imperial Policy and promises to make a United Empire out of the fragments of a Disunited Empire.

Surely that is a thought worthy of the serious consideration of even the most superior of our intellectuals, even of the serious thought of our learned university professors, who, unfortunately, seem to be more interested in the creation of brotherhood of man than in the erection of a British League of Nations, an institution which probably will have more influence in promoting the peace of the world than that dream house of debate the League of Nations.

We have taken a deep interest in the League of Nations in process of formation not only because of its probable influence on the economic future of Canada, which is a matter of considerable importance, but also because of the humorous features of the situation which has developed from it, which is a matter of no great importance. There are always some aspects of even the most momentous occasions which provoke laughter. We have to laugh when the eminent statesmen of the United States, after they had read the news that Britain was about to adopt a policy of protection, joined their heads together and began to think what they should do about it. The first idea that entered the heads of the eminent statesmen after they had read the thing they said never could be done actually was about to be done was the idea of retaliation. If the British imposed duties on American products, surely the United States could impose higher duties on British products. But the discovery was made that United States duties already were so high that they could not be made any higher; that a tariff which is prohibitive cannot be made more prohibitive. Then one of the more reasonable heads suggested that possibly something could be done to promote trade relations with Canada, and another wise head postulated (or something of that kind) that possibly some sort of compromise might be made with Britain before that house of country proceeded to adopt arbitrary trade measures. Is there not something supremely humorous, if not actually ridiculous, about those naive suggestions?

VICTORIA HAS NOT SUFFERED HEAVILY IN TELEPHONE CUTS

While throughout the continent there has been a decided reduction in the number of telephones in use, Vancouver Island has not shown what might be regarded as its proportion of these telephone companies, in times of depression, suffer reductions in the number used. This is in part due to the fact that when savings are decided upon by firms and individuals, the cutting out of any duplications in phone connections that can be accomplished is carried into effect. This is true of the present conditions.

The records of the local business administration for the month of November in Greater Victoria has fallen from 18,004 to 17,864, with the smaller exchanges making good some of the loss of 135 subscribers recorded in Victoria.

Four Up-Island exchanges show losses totaling 86 instruments; these being Courtenay 20, Duncan 15, Ladysmith 20 and Nanaimo 31. Against these there are seven exchanges outside the Greater Victoria area which showed a decided increase, these being: Chemainus & Cobble Hill 9, Cumberland 3, Keating 15, Parksville 11, Port Alberni and Sidney 10. The net decrease for the island in the ten months was 160 subscribers.

The Rhyming Optimist
By Allie Michalella

THE REFUGE
I built a little house of hope
Where I might sometimes go
For happy hours of rest and dreams,
And where I might find solace
I built a mighty house of love,
Walls towering, high and strong,
Where I might find a refuge sure
My whole life long.
I built a shining house of faith
All flooded through with light,
And sending out its joyous glow
Against the night.
There swept a sudden wind of fear
Along life's unclouded sky;
That hour saw my house of hope
In ruins lie.
There came a tempest blast of hate,
Against love's walls it beat,
Until at length each barrier crashed
In dire defeat.
But all in vain the wild storms rage,
Their assaults fail in vain
Upon my house of faith, whose light
Can never wane.

EUROPEAN JEWS FACE DISASTER

Dr. Bernard Kahn Saves
Wave of Poverty Sweeping Over Them

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP).—Dr. Bernard Kahn in a statement today said Jews of Eastern and Central Europe face a crisis which may readily develop into an "irremediable catastrophe," as the outgrowth of world economic conditions.

Dr. Kahn, who is European director of the American Jewish joint distribution committee, outlined the situation which confronts the organization he represents, before he was to sail on his return to Europe to resume his activities in Jewish relief work.

The misery of millions of men, women and children in these lands, he said, has increased to a point where dire consequences must result if nothing is done to bring relief to these peoples. A new wave of poverty among the Jews is sweeping all over Europe, he added.

Dr. Kahn recently came to this country to report to Jewish leaders the plight of Jews abroad, after he had made a tour of the countries in Eastern and Central Europe.

Kinsmen Discuss Arrangements for Benefit Concert

Extensive arrangements for the benefit concert to be staged jointly by the local Kinsmen's Branch and the Victoria Kinsmen Club in aid of the Babes' Cot Fund of the Children's Aid Society, were discussed at a meeting of the clubmen held in the Empress Hotel last night.

The concert will be held at the Shrine auditorium on Friday, December 4, at 8 o'clock. As a special feature of the programme, entertainment has been arranged for the children. At last night's meeting it was pointed out that at many such concerts, adequate entertainment was not provided for children.

The election of officers will take place at the next meeting of the club, to be held on December 10.

POLICE CHIEF TELLS OF RAID

Magistrate George Jay Reserves Decision in Liquor Case in Saanch Police Court

Magistrate George Jay reserved his decision in the case of William H. Rowse, of Saanichton, who was charged in Saanich police court yesterday with unlawfully keeping beer for sale.

Chief of Saanich Police Allan Rankin was the chief witness in the Rowse case for the prosecution. He described the raid made by himself and fellow officers. He said he had found two men and three women in a room off a hallway in the Prairie Inn on the night of November 21. In this room he found five glasses of beer, five bottles partially filled with beer and two empties. In a shed about fifty feet from the back door he found four sacks of empties and four cartons of beer. All bottles bore the same brand, William Rowse, in his defence, said that those found in the room at the Prairie Inn were his guests, who had been invited to his place on the occasion of his wife's birthday.

At the close of the testimony Magistrate Jay said he would render a decision at the next session of the court, which will be next Thursday.

NEW CANDIDATE IN CIVIC FIGHT

Thomas Humphries to Contest
School Board Seat—Many Filing Nomination Papers

Thomas Humphries, branch manager of the Dominion Life Assurance Company, announced yesterday he would be a candidate for one of the four vacant seats on the Victoria School Board.

Mr. Humphries was the only new candidate to enter the already large list of aspirants for civic offices.

STATES POLICY

In announcing his decision to become a candidate for school trustee, Thomas Humphries stated that if given a place on the board he would see that the taxpayers' money was wisely spent. He wished to remind the electors, however, that the main function of a school board was administrative. While favoring the fullest measure of economy it should not be at the expense of efficiency. "If there is to be a reduction in the cost of education," he suggests, "a good place to begin is with the University of British Columbia."

Mr. Humphries asserts that the operating and interest charges for this institution cost the taxpayers of this province annually a sum far beyond the requirements of the population, "and, needless to say, far beyond ability to pay. This, too, in spite of the fact that all the professions are more than crowded," he states. "We are simply educating a vast army in technical knowledge, many of whom will never put it to practical use. Obviously, if less were spent on higher education there might be some hope for a reduction in the mill rate for schools, as the Government would have more money available for common education," he said.

In the opinion of Mr. Humphries, the boys and girls, who are to fill positions in the ordinary walks of life, are entitled to thorough training in the public and high schools. This, he maintains, can only be done by adhering to a high standard of efficiency.

FILE NOMINATIONS

Candidates continue to file their nomination papers daily and up to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon eleven had officially placed their papers in the hands of M. Frank Hunter, returning officer.

The candidates, who so far have filed their papers, are: For Mayor—E. B. Andros and David Leeming.

For City Council—Walter J. Dandridge, Dr. J. D. Hunter, Alexander Peden, Frederick Smith and E. J. Wakeman.

For School Board—J. M. Campbell and C. H. McMillan.

For Police Commissioner—Dr. Stanley F. Miles and Walter E. Staneland.

David Leeming, candidate for the mayoralty, has opened committee rooms at 620 Fort Street. Mr. Leeming will address a public meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on Monday, December 7.

APPLE TRADE GOOD

VERNON—Satisfaction with the existing situation was expressed at the meeting of the Shippers' Council held here this week. It was reported that there are 200 fewer cars of apples in the Okanagan Valley than there were one year ago, and that on the outside the decline is 150 cars. Consequently it is anticipated there will be keen demand for them between now and next April.

KILLER RUNS AMUCK IN SOUTH AFRICA

DURBAN, South Africa, Nov. 26 (AP).—Two Europeans and seven natives were shot dead today near the town of Bethlehem by a man who blew his brains out as the police were on the point of capturing him after a motor car chase.

The first victim of the killer was J. E. Darby, a salesman, who had stopped his automobile to give the man a lift. The killing was done with a sporting rifle.

Driving on in the car toward Bethlehem with Darby's body beside him, the man shot and killed five natives. He turned off just before reaching town and slew a European named Prinloo, who was planting trees by the roadside, and his two native helpers.

Police, pursuing the killer in automobiles, caught up with him as he turned his gun on himself. His identity was not established.

Did you chop $50 OFF the resale value of your car TODAY?

● Perhaps you may get quick starting with some so-called winter oils—oils purposely made thin to permit easy starting. But such oils thin out dangerously at high operating temperatures—do not lubricate effectively—allow friction and needless wear. It's easy to depreciate your car $50 in one day when operating on such an oil.

Be sure of perfect cold weather lubrication. Change now to Mobiloil Arctic. It gives easy starting, instant distribution at sub-zero temperatures. But more, Mobiloil Arctic maintains its rich lubricating quality at highest operating temperatures. It stands up under furnace heat which develops in your engine a few minutes after it is started. It lubricates efficiently at all temperatures. That's why Mobiloil Arctic is called the "double-range" oil. It does a "double-range" job.

Go to a Mobiloil dealer today. Ask him to fill your crankcase with Mobiloil Arctic. And for easy gear shifting have Mobiloil "CW" put into your gear boxes. Then you're prepared for any weather.

But remember to have your oil changed regularly and twice as often as in summer. Frequent use of choke thins out even the best oil.

INDIAN GUNMAN BEING TRAILED

Attack Upon Indian While Patrolling Trapline Is Being Investigated

Until the arrival of Sergeant F. D. Markland, of the Provincial Police, at Kyquoot, the shooting of an Indian, named William, while patrolling his trapline back of the hills which shelter the once famous whaling station, remains a mystery. William has not uttered the name of his assailant since he entered the Port Alberni Hospital, where he was taken in a launch after his bullet-riddled body was found in the woods.

INDIAN'S STORY
Sergeant Markland interviewed William while en route to Kyquoot, but the story that was told by the injured man was a disjointed one, given between moans of pain. The Indian, it appears, was set upon by another member of his tribe while he was walking along his trapline. After the first assault, William's assailant fired three charges of shotgun pellets into his body as he lay helpless on the ground. Police have a suspicion to work upon, but no direct evidence. Until Sergeant Markland arrives on the ground it is not expected that the identity of the assailant will be revealed.

NOOKA CASE
Sergeant Markland also investigated the death of another Indian, Justin Jackson, whose bruised body was found in his shack at Nooka. An investigation revealed that death was due to natural causes and not violence, as was first thought, due to the bruised condition of the man's face. Helping the police in their investigations is Constable W. H. P. Nightingale, Indian Department officer stationed at Port Alberni, to whom the first report of Jackson's death and the assault upon William were given.

Violation of an old Indian tribal custom, whereby Indians pass from one generation to another, is being investigated as a possible motive for the assault upon William.

Miss Opportunities—The opportunity that were being missed by residents of this city in not visiting the archives department of the Provincial Library and in not taking visitors there were emphasized at the Rotary Club meeting yesterday by Charles French. He also made a plea for more members to affiliate themselves with the Historical Society and so obtain valuable information about the history of the province.

Expressed Thanks—Praise was offered to several members of the Rotary Club at its meeting yesterday for the work done in making the visit of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra the marked success it was. President J. Percy Watson for his untiring efforts to make the concert so successful. In turn, Mr. Charles French lauded the services of Mr. Watson, and also referred to the efforts of J. H. Fletcher in providing two pianos for the concert.

Realists Meet Today—The Victoria Realists' Club will hold its meeting at 12:30 p.m. today in the Sandringham tea room at 716 Fort Street. The meeting place has been changed from the dining room, owing to the fact that the latter is not available today. David Leeming has promised to give members a talk on the present city financial problems, illustrated with charts showing the fluctuation of costs in various civil departments over a period of years.

Outlines Policy—C. H. McMillan, candidate for the Board of School Trustees, has outlined a programme which he believes will be of value to the administration of the school system. He states he is in favor of technical education; efforts to eliminate home study as far as possible; to try and formulate a better training schedule for the evening technical schools; to have re-entrants for students unemployed to the evening classes, and to have, at all times, the welfare of the staff and students taken care of.

Want Uniformity—The Ratepayers' Association of North Vancouver has sent a request to the Board of Municipal Council, in common with all other such bodies throughout Canada, asking that the Dominion Government call a conference of the Ministers of Education of the provinces for the purpose of seeing if a plan cannot be devised for the bringing about of uniformity in the textbooks used in the schools of Canada. The council last evening decided to forward the resolution to the school board.

Purchase Filing Cabinet—Authorities given H. W. Creelman, principal of the Lamson Street School, to purchase a filing cabinet and indexing system, priced at $115, by the Equimul School Board last night. The cabinet, it was learned, would be necessary to file the cards sent out by the Department of Education for keeping records of the students' work. Mr. Creelman told the board that it would save much time also. Trustee A. P. Farley voted against authorizing the purchasing of the cabinet.

Refers to Criticism—Disapproval of the unfair criticism of Professor Soward, made by The Colonist in connection with the recent lecture on Russia, was expressed by the meeting of the University Extension Association last evening at Victoria College. Mr. Heben maintained that "the criticism was not justified by anything the lecturer said," his comment referring to the address given by Prof. F. H. Soward on "Russia's Five-Year Plan" at the previous meeting of the association on November 12.

In Aid of Charity—The Rotary Club, at its luncheon meeting yesterday, decided that from now until Christmas the practice would be followed of having a box of available at each meeting in which could be deposited any contributions towards the Christmas charity fund. In addition, any member who wishes to provide a dinner hamper for a poor family is requested to give his name to the secretary, who will communicate it to the Friendly Help Society, which, in turn, will advise the donor of a family to which this would be acceptable.

Want New Road—The Provincial Government was asked yesterday by a large delegation from the North Shore of the Fraser River to continue work on the new road between Agassiz and Hais. This project was interrupted recently when all road work was discontinued by the Government. It was suggested that work on the new road would relieve unemployment in a large area. The cabinet promised consideration of the proposal advanced by the delegation, which was headed by F. W. H. Wren, of Mission; Reeve McDonald, of Coquitlam; and Reeve McRae, of Agassiz.

Concert Enjoyed—One of the most varied and highly entertaining concert of the season was given last night in the Foresters' Hall by the members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society. The first part of the programme, which consisted of vocal and instrumental numbers, was greatly enjoyed, and the dancing which followed served to bring the evening to a close in a most suitable manner. Artists contributing to the programme were: J. Mair, A. Pollock, Mrs. Marshall, G. Warnock, Mrs. Mayell, Mrs. Wilkie, Mrs. Crawford, Miss M. Watson, Mrs. M. Wallace, Mrs. Crowther, R. Morrison, R. McVie, and Master E. Slidder.

The Veterans' Corner
The Canadian Pensioners' Association will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend. The directors will meet at 7 o'clock.

The Veterans of France will hold a Christmas party for children at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of December 22. It was decided at a meeting of the executive last night. Extensive arrangements have been made for the afternoon, and presents will be given to all. Santa Claus will also attend and distribute the gifts.

SCHOOLS USED FOR POLITICS

Hon. J. Hinchliffe Makes Indictment Against Former Liberal Regime

"I do not know of any Government that can stoop so low or be more despicable than a Government that uses its schools to teach political partisanship and form biased political opinions among its citizens by stepping the minds of its children in party hatred."

Thus did Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, indict the former Liberal Administration at a meeting of the Saanich Ward Two Conservatives held in St. Mark's Hall last night.

His denunciation followed upon a revelation of the alleged practices of the late Liberal Government in allowing textbooks in public schools, which eulogized the Liberal party as all that was good and the Conservative party as all that was bad.

BESMIRCHES NAME
The minister took incident after incident from old textbooks, in which he claimed the former Minister of Education, Premier had allowed partisanship to be taught. He further asserted that textbooks had been placed in the schools which bore the name of a great Canadian, Sir John A. Macdonald.

Mr. Hinchliffe refuted the charge that the present Government had burdened the taxpayers with the superannuation of school teachers. Such was not the case, he said. The teachers of this province maintained their own superannuation fund and received not one dollar in support of it from the Provincial Government beyond those charges inherited from the late Liberal Government.

Mr. Despard Twigg, M.P.P., expanded on Mr. Hinchliffe's remarks and denounced the Liberals as not only using despicable methods to forward their cause, but also with introducing Americanisms into the schools.

AMERICAN PROPAGANDA
The famous pledge to the flag of the United States was contained in one of their textbooks under an inspiring picture of a Boy Scout saluting the flag. This was being done by an administration that should have been inspiring a sense of national pride among young Canadian boys and girls.

The speaker commended the Minister of Education for introducing into the schools the Canadian creed as contained on the flyleaf of every Government-printed book. He also commended Mr. Hinchliffe for the step he had taken in having the flag exercise held once a week in all schools. Saluting the flag and singing of the National Anthem would do much to offset the Americanism introduced into the country by the Liberal party which seemed to think, he stated, that the Gettysburg speech was more fitting for the people of this country than the inspiring addresses and actions of Canada's founders.

SCANDALOUS REGIME
Mr. Twigg spoke of the manner in which T. D. Pattullo was attacking the present Government when he ought to be helping the administration through the unemployment crisis. None of his charges lead to any explanation of his party's own "scandalous maladministration" of the Oliver and Sumas projects and liquor control and Gauthier scandals.

All the Liberals ever did was to inherit an inheritance—an inheritance of public debt which was costing the province 86 cents out of every dollar collected to pay off. During the evening a programme of entertainment was provided. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

MAY CONTEST COUNCIL SEAT

Major J. A. P. Crompton, School Trustee, Will Probably Seek Office in Equimul

Major J. A. P. Crompton, trustee of the Equimul Municipal School Board, who is standing for re-election to the board in the January elections, will probably also seek office as councillor of the municipality, according to an announcement last night.

No definite decision was made by Major Crompton, but from the manner in which he spoke it was quite evident that he was seriously considering running, and in all probability would stand.

Major Crompton is widely known in Equimul, having had an active part in the school board for a number of years, and having always taken a wide interest in the affairs of the municipality. When approached last night, Major Crompton stated that he felt it was the duty of every business man of the district to interest himself in municipal affairs, particularly during the next year, when, he said, "a councillor's position will not be easy for anybody."

Trustee A. P. Farley, who was also approached last night, gave a non-committal statement, saying that he had not thought the matter over seriously as yet.

CATTLE HERDS TO BE LARGER

Ranchers in Interior of Province See Better Things for Stock-Raising Industry

There is a prospect that British Columbia will in a very few years become a greater beef-producing area than at present, A. J. B. Fell, of Vancouver, who is intimately associated with the farming industry of the province, has recently made a tour through the cattle-ranching districts of British Columbia, and when seen at the Empress Hotel yesterday expressed the opinion that the stock-raising industry was in line for radical development.

Mr. Fell says that the low price of beef has had the effect of curtailing the high cattle-stock raising, with the exception of those which it is absolutely necessary to place on sale. Feed is plentiful and the stock is in good condition. The ranchers feel that the depression is only to continue for a short time and that the demand will increase within a very short time. They are, therefore, placing the three-year-old steers on the market of necessity, but are retaining the heifers for breeding purposes rather than sacrifice them at present prices. The result will be that the interior ranches will in the next year or two materially increase their herds.

WANTS PEOPLE TO CARRY "CARTWHEELS"
WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Representative Eaton, of Colorado, claims people should carry more of those big silver dollars in their pockets and fewer greenbacks. Hardly anybody owns any this side of Des Moines, he said today, and this is one reason why silver is in the dumps. Treasury figures which show there is a $1.25 in circulation for every dollar of gold in circulation, also discloses there is only 27 cents worth of silver dollar available for every person.

Eaton favors a law to prohibit issuance of silver-secured dollar bills for six months or a year, so as to get the coins jingling in pants pockets again. It will help, he argues, not only silver but all business.

ENGLISH WRITER GETS NEW IDEAS

Miss Winifred Wrench in Overseas Gives Some Impressions of Dominion of Canada

LONDON, Nov. 26 (CP).—Miss Winifred Wrench in Overseas has some more interesting things to say about Canada, this time expatiating on our excellent salads.

"I have discovered, for one thing, that Canadians understand a hot weather diet infinitely better than we do at home. This is, of course, only natural, seeing they enjoy a hotter summer and are obliged to study how best to live under circumstances of which we know but little. We do still lag behind Canada and the United States with regard to applying our dietetic knowledge scientifically in connection with restaurants and hotels and in our homes. I can get a better balanced and more attractive meal in either Montreal or Toronto, than I can, at the price, in any restaurant in England. In Montreal, I have even visited in either London or Paris. I have never heard any one praise our cabbage or Brussels sprouts, the way in which they are cooked.

"Both in Canada and the United States much more use is made of cream cheese than with us. Without fear of contradiction I think that in one Canadian departmental store their salads are unequalled. How is it that lettuce leaves in Canada seem to curl in the right direction and are always crisp?"

INFANT WELFARE WORK
"I came to Canada eager to learn all I could about diet and had the good fortune to meet Miss M. Good, a nutritionist, in Montreal, who works in connection with the child welfare department. For the first time in my life, I discovered someone who is concentrating on diet and health; not on diet and disease. I have no space in which to tell you in detail of my visit to the shims in Montreal, nor of how Miss Good manages to persuade her families to replace too many cereals and meat with more fruit and vegetables and milk, nor to explain the budgeting she somehow contrives to get the mothers she visits to carry out. Miss Good and her colleagues and their instructors carry on where Truby-Kim leaves off, that is to say when the baby ceases to be a baby. Our infant welfare work in Great Britain is as good as any in the world; I have heard in Canada of all we do for our school children and mothers in this respect, and the advances that have been made since "was working in connection with mothercraft."

ATTITUDE TOWARDS CANADA
Speaking of "our monstrous ignorance" (namely, that of the Mother Country in regard to Canada), Miss Wrench emphasizes the fact that Great Britain is supposed to know all about each one of the units of her Empire, which is rather a large order. "But there are useful gaps in our knowledge. Knowing Canada as I do now, I shudder when Canadian friends start to tell me that they have been mistaken for citizens of the United States, when visiting England. None of us like to be mistaken for members of a nation to which we do not belong.

"With regard to the ignorance of the stay-at-home Briton. How many of us, for instance, know who the United Empire Loyalists were and how they acquired their name? I did not know until I visited Canada that the majority of my readers know no more than I did. This,

Young People Hold Enjoyable Social

More than seventy young people enjoyed the games and contests. Prizes were presented by the president, Robert Poulis, to Eileen Beggs, Iola Mitchell, Edna Watson, and Earl Conroy, and Mrs. J. S. Patterson, in a few very appropriate words, welcomed everyone present.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the social committee and those who assisted, for the efficient way the games and contests were managed. Hostess Mitchell, Doris Le-Paule, Louise Patterson, Robert Poulis, Donald McMillan and Richard Creech. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

ASSOCIATION HAS DONE GOOD WORK

Shantymen's Organisation Annual Meeting Held—Society's Activities Told by Speakers

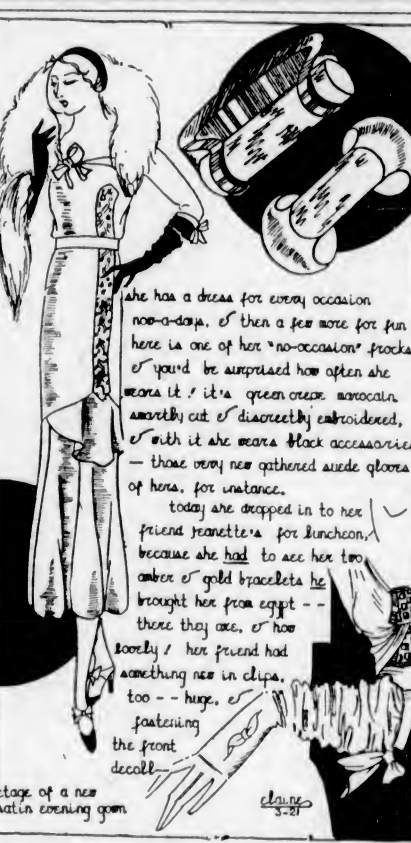

Addresses dealing with the work of the association, and its growth on Vancouver Island, were heard at the annual meeting of the Victoria Shantymen's Association held in the Y.W.C.A. last night. Dr. W. A. Daly, president, occupied the chair, and the speakers were Dr. J. W. Mahood, of the Moody Bible Institute; Percy Willis, Dr. Daly, J. S. Whiting, superintendent of the association, and E. Wilderspin, literature secretary. The meeting was preceded by a well attended dinner.

The manner in which the association has spread on Vancouver Island was told by Mr. Willis, who stated that its work had penetrated far into many small and out-of-the-way villages at the north end of the island. General interest had also been considerably stimulated, Mr. Willis said, and the Christian public was now realizing more than ever before the good work that the association is doing. Excellent support was being received from all sides, he said.

Dr. Mahood spoke briefly on the activities of the Bible institute and referred to the widespread effect that this work had.

The operation of the literature branch was outlined by Mr. Wilderspin, who asserted that it had done much in neglected places, which had not been reached by other churches.

CHURCH TROUBLES ARE AIRED BEFORE COURTS
Trial of an action, which involves factions of the St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, continued all day yesterday in County Court before Judge Charles McIntosh. The action was brought in the name of the congregation of the church against A. Herberger, Louis Schmeitz and Paul Schmeitz to compel the return of certain properties of the church and to pay $100 damages.

The trouble within the church commenced last January with the election of a new board consisting of H. Lubach, W. Debidat and A. Weise, as deacons; G. Meyer, C. Huebner, H. Toews and Minnie Priker as trustees. When members of the previous board, the record claims, refused to turn over the church books, seal, certificates of title and other property, an action was commenced.

H. A. Beckwith appeared as counsel for the members of the congregation, and H. A. Maclean, K.C., acted for the defendants, with Robert Yates and J. Stuart Yates. The trial was adjourned at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and will be continued today.

Dorothy, attending the Episcopal church for the first time, was surprised to see the people about her kneel suddenly. Turning to her mother she asked what they were going to do. "Hush, darling," whispered mother, "they are going to say their prayers."

"What! With all their clothes on?" said Dorothy.

POPULAR SIDNEY COUPLE MARRIED

Miss Hazel Hill and Mr. Gordon Bowcott United in Marriage—Many Guests Attend

SIDNEY, Nov. 26.—St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday evening, when Rev. Thomas Keyworth united in marriage Hazel Rebecca, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hill, Fifth Street, Sidney, and Mr. Gordon Frederick Bowcott, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bowcott, Queens Avenue, Sidney.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with Autumn flowers, foliage and pastel shaded lights. The guest pews were decorated by white satin bows.

The many friends who filled the church to capacity were ushered to their pews by Mr. Herman Lind and Mr. Stewart Hill. The bride was a picture of loveliness as she entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss K. Lowe. Her gown of white satin was fashioned with a fitted bodice and gracefully flared skirt. Her embroidered net veil, which was a family heirloom, was worn cap style and held to the head with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses, carnations, purple heather and maidenhair fern.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Ivy Hill, sister of the bride, made a charming bridesmaid in a dress of mauve crepe-back satin with which she wore a picture hat of mohair of the same shade. She carried a shower bouquet of white and bronze chrysanthemums. Little Kathleen King was a pretty flower girl in a dress of rose and blue. The bridesmaid carried a Victorian bouquet of Christmas roses. The groom was supported by Mr. George Finch.

The bride couple stood beneath an arch of flowers and greenery centred with a white bell during the congregational singing of "The Voice That Breathed Our Eden." During the signing of the register, Mrs. Thomas Keyworth sang "My Prayer" (W. H. Squire).

Leaving the church beneath a shower of confetti and rice, the bridal party proceeded to the Sidney Gaiety Club, where the bride was greeted with pink and white streamers, flowers and foliage. Mrs. R. G. Hill, in a gown of floral voile with navy blue and white stripes, in navy blue satin with hat on suite, assisted in receiving. Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. J. Matthews presided at the reception.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Thomas Keyworth, and that to the groom by Mr. George Finch. The three-hour wedding cake centred a table decorated with white and pink streamers and flowers in silver vases.

HONEYMOON ON MAINLAND
Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver, the bride chose a going-away dress of brown with fur-trimmed coat and hat of the same color.

McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Barnes, Miss G. Jenner, Miss Gladys Daniels, Miss Mary Stewart and David Stewart, all of Victoria.

ISLAND AND CITY
BEAUTIES SHOWNGovernment Bureau of Information
Has Attractive Picture Series for Advertising Purposes

The Information Bureau of the Provincial Government service has a very attractive set of colored motion pictures depicting some of the attractions of Vancouver Island. Yesterday forenoon, through the courtesy of Clifford Denham, the Capitol Theatre was thrown open to a gathering of representative citizens for the purpose of seeing this series of publicity views.

The arrangement of the scenes as shown under the charge of Gordon Smith, the director of the bureau, is excellent. Sitting comfortably in the theatre the gathering was taken about the island, thence up the island over the Malahat with attractive scenes along the way until Hidden Plateau is invaded with all its natural beauties. Again the scene shifts to Victoria, showing views of the harbor, followed by a typical sunset over the waters of the straits.

The views which are included in the set of pictures are enhanced by natural coloring which has been introduced. The pictures are absolutely new scenes at the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Butcher, constitute no small charm. Contrasting with these are the natural beauties of Elk Falls, near Campbell River, and the rugged beauties of the Forbidden Plateau.

Scenes on the golf course at Colwood are also included in the series, while there is also depicted some of the wild life of the island, with close-up pictures of the native deer. This beautiful film of Vancouver Island, which far surpasses any hitherto exhibited, is a product of a British Columbia studio. It was directed by Howard Booth, of Vancouver.

Just Roamin' Around

BY TWO ROVERS

I think my master has gone barmy, and all over the good work of the Victoria Amateur Operatic Society, which is putting on "Robin Hood" tonight and Saturday night at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

For, he handed me a lot of disconnected pencil notes and said: "Ya scurvy knave! go to! scribble these on vellum, effusion, forsooth! I go to attend an Indian Conference at Nottingham Castle (where Play-ers' cigarettes hail from), to see if a Five-Year Plan will enthrone ye Victoria Cricket Association in the Gold Standard, what ho! and with that, he was gone; in fact, he rode forth on his high horse.

So here am I, with a bunch of jottings on some old envelopes, scraps of newspaper, and more items on the back of a letter from Slam.

It is enough to make even a canine weep!

Item No. 1: "Imagine the nerve of a named Gandhii making remarks on the scantiness of English ladies' apparel!"

I, Rover, cannot imagine anything of the kind; unless the news item, referred to, omitted to state that some state official, with a sense of the fitness of things, turned, preposterous Hindi over his knees and spanked him well for insulting our women folk behind their sun-burnt backs. A little "tanning" would not do him any harm.

Gandhii, Gandhii, Give me your answer, do! Is Ind barmy, All for the love of you? Since you don't don a collar, Do you feel the pukka walaah, As it waltz sleek, Chilli, yes, leek, Windle playing all over you?

I, Rover, in the lamented absence of my master, think this world, just now at least, is flat—very flat, flattered in fact, punctured to a frazzle by the foolishness of some people, but, thank goodness, there is still the daily round of duties to be performed, and we find that even a roundelay of corporation not wholly precludes the necessary performance of those self-same duties.

However, although I could add to that, and subtract from that, also, I could multiply my assertion for a flat world is, because of the times; but, in order to make the wheels of commerce go round, we must brace up and circulate our faith in things for the better, and let the flat-minded remain flat, for we flatter them by taking notice of their anti-globular ideosyncrasies.

What ho! my master is away, All day, thank goodness! yes! all day, He's gone to make his usual rounds, That's how he earns his paltry pounds:

But, if Rotundity is not, His roamin' around is shod—to pot!

FASHION FLASHES

BY ALICE ALDEN

Be brisk these Winter days and wear your wool frocks and suits for looks and comfort. A new and smart woolen ensemble uses an emerald green sheer wool jacket with a black wool skirt. The jacket has a tuxedo trimming of black gailyak, which is ornamented by twin clips.

Strange partners are always interesting when they form a sartorial merger. Thus much attention has been attracted by an evening frock of white satin which has a very deep border of kellynny fur and a narrow belt of gold kid.

Little but big in smartness are the new little jackets of ermine dyed black. A very attractive model in this medium has a deep, upstanding double collar, a pelum effect in back and three-quarter sleeves trimmed with wide ruffles of the fur.

Very suitable are the suits now being worn. One charming model is in a Spanish like rough bouclé woolen with a crossed notched collar and revers of leopard. The skirt has gored sections and there is a leopard melon muff.

HEAD WINDS DELAY SHIP

Ruth Alexander Docks Late
From California—Busy
at Esquimalt Plant

Delayed by stormy weather on the Coast, it was midnight last night when the Pacific Steamship Company's liner, the Ruth Alexander, inbound from California ports, docked at Ribbet Piers with passengers for Victoria and Mainland points aboard. The Ruth Alexander was scheduled to leave for Seattle at 2 o'clock this morning.

From California ports, the Kingsley Navigation Company's freighter, the Kingsley, arrived alongside Ogdon Point Piers at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and after discharging general cargo for local consignees, departed for Mainland points shortly after 2 o'clock. King Brothers, local agents for the company, looked after the Kingsley while she was at the dock.

About thirty men are now employed on the Pacific Steamship Company's liner, the Ruth Alexander, and that number will be maintained until the ship is remodeled inside and ready to be placed in commission on the Vancouver-Ocean Pacific run. The ship is lying alongside the wharf of Yarrow, Limited, who have the contract for the alterations.

The Esquimalt firm also reports the arrival at the plant yesterday of the tug tender Harriet B. belonging to the Pacific Steamship Company. She was hauled out on the marine ways, and is undergoing a thorough overhauling.

WILL LOAD LUMBER
To load 800,000 feet of lumber for Australia, the freighter Golden Harvest is due alongside Ogdon Point some time today, according to King Brothers, who will look after the ship's interest while she is loading.

Wrecked on Coast of Cornwall

Driven on the Shore by a Gale Off the British Coast, the French Vessel Saint Anne Is Shown Near Cornwall. Members of the Crew Were Taken Ashore by Lifesaving Apparatus Without Injury.

Amended regulations governing the passage of Second Narrows bridge by ships were forwarded on Wednesday night to Ottawa by the Vancouver Board of Harbor Commissioners, and it is expected that they will shortly be passed and become a part of law. They differ somewhat from those suggested by the joint committee of the Bridge Company, the Board of Trade, the Shipping Federation and the Merchants' Exchange, it is stated.

Under the joint committee's proposals, the regulation of shipping through the bridge was left entirely in the hands of the harbor master. The amended by-laws define this passage more strictly. Under the new rules large ships must pass the bridge against the current. Tugs and boats can go through on slack water, but the deeper vessels cannot approach the bridge with the tide.

MAIDEN TRIP FINISHED

RETIRE AFTER LONG SERVICE

Popular Purser Served on Majority of Coast Ferry
Ships

After a career in the office of ferry and coasting craft totaling thirty-six years, Thomas S. MacLaughlin, for a considerable time senior purser in the B.C. Coast Service, has retired from active duty with the company. In his well-earned retirement, "Tom" MacLaughlin, who was born in Scotland, has been a member of the majority of people who traveled in these parts, in addition, have the well-wishes of a host of friends in Victoria for a long and enjoyable future.

Joining the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company in 1895, his first position was that of night clerk aboard the Ss. Chamer, on which boat he later succeeded to the charge of the purser's office, and since that time has served on the majority of the ships plying out of Victoria. He was purser on the Ss. R. F. Rickett, running between Victoria and Fraser River points, of the steamers Queen City and Tees, on the run between this city and Cape Scott on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

As purser aboard the Alaska vessels, Mr. MacLaughlin served on the steamers Princess May and Sophia, making many voyages to Skagway and return, and has been on the majority of the Princess ships, including the Adelaide, Victoria, Charlotte, Kathleen and the Marguerite. His last ship was the Ss. Princess Joan, on the night service run between Victoria and Vancouver.

Eighteen-year-old Frederick Edgar, of Crystal Farm, won the 1931 ploughing championship of Warwickshire, England, over thirty-eight men.

New Credit Unions Contemplated For Maritimes

HALIFAX, Nov. 26 (CP).—Announcement that organization of new credit unions is contemplated as a solution to the financial problems confronting the 30,000 fishermen of the Maritime Provinces and Magdalen Islands is contained in the first issue of an official bulletin of the United Maritime Fishermen which made its appearance here.

The announcement advises fishermen that plans for the organization are being studied by Dr. M. M. Cody, of Saint Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., who organized the United Maritime Fishermen in 1930.

CONSISTS OF TWO LAYERS

Atmosphere Divides About Seven Miles From Earth
—Has Structure

That the atmosphere is now known to consist of two major layers, dividing at about seven miles above the earth and that the temperature remains practically constant in the top layer are among the recent important discoveries of meteorology, which have a particular significance for such sciences as aviation and radio, William J. Humphries, chief of the division of meteorological physics of the United States Weather Bureau, has indicated in a lecture before the members of the staff of the Bureau of Standards.

The general belief in the past was that the atmosphere had no structure and that temperature decreased with height, until at the upper limit of the earth's surrounding envelope the absolute zero of temperature would be reached. Dr. Humphries stated. This theory has been disproved by recent experiments with small balloons carrying recording instruments, which have established the existence of the two major layers. The lower layer is known as the troposphere, and the upper layer as the stratosphere.

REMAINS CONSTANT
The division between the two occurs at a height of about 11 kilometres (6.8 miles) above the earth's surface. The temperature steadily decreases with height in the lower layer, but when the stratosphere is reached, the temperature remains practically constant at about 69 degrees below zero (Fahr.).

Most of the phenomena, such as winds and storms, clouds and precipitation, with which we are familiar, occur in the troposphere. This lower layer itself is extremely complicated, in structure, as illustrated by the trade winds and anticyclones, and the cyclonic storms and thunder showers. The peculiar conditions under which large volumes of cold and warm air can exist side by side were explained, and the great importance of a knowledge of atmospheric phenomena to aviators stressed.

Dr. Humphries stated that the limited time available did not give him much opportunity to explain the structure of the stratosphere in detail, which includes dust layers, the auroral base, the Kennelly-Heaviside layer (important in the study of radio-transmission phenomena), and the ozone layer which

HINDERED BY BAD WEATHER

Low Visibility Keeps Planes
From Searching for Missionaries

ANCHORAGE, Nov. 26 (AP).—Reports were awaited today from Pilot Harry Blunt, who is engaged in an aerial search in the Kuskokwim-Yukon area, for the missing missionary-aviators, Brothers George J. Feltes and Martial Lapeyre, while two other planes were made ready to leave for that section.

Held back by low visibility, yesterday and returned here. The two will leave as soon as the weather permits.

Meanwhile, in the section between McGrath, which the two flyers left last Sunday afternoon, and Holy Cross, their destination, 150 miles away, the weather has been reported moderate in recent days.

ARE NOT WORRIED
At Holy Cross last night, little worry was expressed over their safety providing they were uninjured in making a landing. The country over which the two were flying is fairly well inhabited with small villages and trappers' cabins, officials said, and in addition they had snowshoes, heavy clothing and food supplies for thirty days.

Brother Feltes brought the plane here from New York last September, and was joined by Brother Lapeyre, of New Orleans. A year ago the first missionary plane brought to Alaska by Brother Feltes was wrecked and three men were killed.

"I'm sorry I married you," sobbed the bride.
"You oughta be," said the groom.
"You kept some other girl out of Alaska," said the bride.

WILL CROSS OLD ROUTES

Extensions of Mediterranean Cruises Will Take in Glamorous Lands

Samarkand, looked upon hundreds of years ago as the end of the golden road, and a halting place on Marco Polo's famous travels to the court of the great Genghis Khan in 1265, will reveal its historical treasures to passengers on the Mediterranean cruise of the Canadian Pacific's beautiful Empress of Australia who way elect to take advantage of the first tour of Turkestan ever organized by a transportation company.

Leaving New York February 3 and arriving at Istanbul, Turkey, March 6, those who decide to make a month's journey into the past will leave the Turkish capital March 7 by steamer, circle three-quarters of the Black Sea and join a special train of four Wagon Lit sleeping cars, diner and refrigerator car for Tiflis and Baku in the Caucasus. Crossing the Caspian Sea by steamer to Krasnovodsk, they join the rails again and make stops at Borkhara, where the famous rugs are still woven by hand; Samarkand, the ancient capital, pass on through forbidding Turkestan, skirting the north of Afghanistan, India and China, and swing northward, crossing the Kirgis Steppe to Novo-Sibirsk, in Siberia, where by way of the Trans-Siberian Railway they turn west through Omsk, a city of sinister memories in the days of the nihilists, and through the Sverdlovsk Pass in the Ural Mountains on to Moscow, where the organized trip ends.

The railroad follows the old caravan route over which merchants for centuries traveled the marts to China. It passes through Orus, where the unconquered army of Alexander the Great passed during his conquest of the world. But times have changed; no longer do travelers tread precariously on swaying, crumpled camels to lie by night under tents of finely woven silk. The mark of civilization has stolen the romance of the Arabian Nights to give the modern traveler the comforts of modern drawing-room compartment cars, dining cars and refrigerator cars carrying stocks of fresh provisions.

On this novel tour, the Canadian Pacific is including it as part of the Mediterranean cruise with shore excursions en route. The tour from embarkation at New York, February 3, lasts sixty-four days to Moscow.

Motorcycle Club to Stage Reliability
Trials Next Sunday

Twenty of Victoria's most skillful motorcycle riders will start out at 1:30 o'clock Sunday to take part in the annual Reliability Test of the Victoria Motorcycle Club, competing for the Brentwood Trophy, emblematic of the championship.

The grid this year promises keener competition and harder rider who, in the opinion of the checkers, shows the best riding ability throughout the ride.

A severe penalty will be incurred by riders this year who ignore arterial highway signs. Secret checkers will be conveniently situated and will deal drastically with these riders.

As formerly, the trophy will be awarded to the rider annexing the highest aggregate total, and a miniature. Second place in aggregate points will also receive a cup. A special cup is being awarded to the Senior Grid Championship Will Be at Stake at Montreal—Winners Will Meet Regina Roughriders for Canadian Title

TORONTO, Nov. 26 (CP).—Eastern Canada Rugby is rapidly approaching the stage where only a few teams remain in each series. Senior honors will be decided on Saturday at Montreal, when Montreal Winged Wheelers, inter-provincial champions, play University of Western Ontario Mustangs of London, intercollegiate titleholders.

Western disposed of Sarnia Imperials, Ontario Rugby Football Union, to earn the right to play in the final. Balm Beach, last year's Dominion champions, were eliminated by Sarnia. Regina Roughriders, Western Canada representatives, will again come East in search of the Canadian title.

Three teams remain in the running for junior honors, Montreal A.A.A. Juniors, representing the Quebec Football Union, and Woodstock and St. Catharines, finalists for the Ontario Rugby Football Union title. The latter two meet on Saturday to decide who will go into the semi-finals for the Canadian crown.

Toronto Argonauts, present titleholders, were knocked out of contention by Woodstock. Moose Jaw, Western Canada champions, are expected to travel East this year to participate in the Dominion finals.

MUSTANGS READY
LONDON, Nov. 26 (CP).—London's Galloping Mustangs left for Montreal tonight, where they will meet Winged Wheelers in the Eastern Rugby final on Saturday. The Western university squad, winners of the intercollegiate title, are primed and fit for their engagement with Warren Stevens' band of forward-passing speedsters.

The Mustangs are at full strength. Every member of the team is reported fit and ready to go. Coach Breen, of the purple-clad crew, was in an optimistic mood. "We are going to Montreal to play football, and we believe that we have a chance of winning. If we are defeated we will not be disgraced and will be in there battling every second."

JOKERS DOWN CAPITOL SHOE

Fluke Goal Brings Victory in Senior Roller Hockey—Rosebuds Win

Jokers scored an exciting 9-8 victory over Jones Brothers in the senior roller hockey league fixture last night. In the intermediate game Rosebuds blanked Capitol Shoe Repairers' squad under a 5-0 score. The senior fixture was one of the keenest fought matches of the season and held the big crowd on its toes throughout.

Jokers went into an early lead when they netted four goals in the first frame against one by their opponents. Jones Brothers came with a rush in the second canto and registered four counters, while Jokers could only add one. In the third period the teams battled on about even terms, each sagging the tempo for three markers. What turned out to be the winning goal came from the stick of Unwin when he accidentally shot the rubber into his own goal while attempting to clear.

BARNESWELL STARS
Barneswell starred for the losers, scoring five goals, while Monroe notched four for the winners. Two goals in the first period and three in the final frame gave Rosebuds their 5-0 win over Capitol Shoe Repairers. The winners had a big edge on the play and Baker in goal turned in a stellar performance.

Concentration Big Asset in Golf

By FRANCIS DUMMETT
Present Amateur and Former Open Champion

It is a well established fact that if a golfer is going to be successful he must learn to keep his eye on the ball and from the time he hits his first tee shot until the final putt has been made his mind must be on the game. Many times fine golfers will make a simple little mistake that will upset the applecart and turn four into sixes. The other day I was playing with a fellow who started in his round by sinking a fine twenty-footer for a birdie three. For a few holes he could not go wrong, and his putting was positively sensational. Along about the eighth hole he had a putt of not over eighteen inches for a four. It was exactly the sort of putt he had been called upon to make up to that time. He missed it and what was worse he never even hit the hole.

He looked up with a smile of disappointment and said that in place of keeping his mind on that putt he was expecting one of his opponents to concede it to him and, in consequence, failed. This reminds me too, of a match I had with Walter Hagen at the Sandy Bay Country Club several years ago. Playing the eighteenth hole I was one down. The match was a thirty-six-hole affair. We reached round green in two and I had gotten a four. That particular green was new and rather rough, and Hagen ran his approach putt to perhaps twelve inches of the cup. Because the green was irregular I decided to ask Walter to hole the putt that was to give him the hole. Ordinarily I might give it to him.

KEEP EYE ON BALL
Hagen thought I had made a gesture indicating a concession. I stepped to one side to watch his putt. When he saw what my intentions were he prepared himself to putt, hit his ball hurriedly and missed and lost the hole. He was a good sport and laughed it off. In the locker room afterwards he told me he had allowed his mind to wander, thought I was going to give him the putt, and when he realized I meant him to tap it in he could not bring back his concentration.

The better golfers will spend hours at a time practicing over just one thing, keeping the eye on the ball. Years ago when Johnny Mc-Dermott was the king pin among American golfers I played quite a bit with him and also watched him in practice. McDermott was a marvellous concentrator on his golf, and things, and the foremost was that of keeping his eye on the ball.

Just before his starting time in the 1914 Open at Midlothian he went down to the practice grounds to see him hit balls as a preliminary warm-up to the task at hand. He dropped two dozen balls on the ground and stationed a caddy boy to hit those two dozen balls and never once lifted his head to see where they went. It so happened that you could have spread a handkerchief over the spot where they landed and nothing else did such a thing but real concentration.

INATTENTION FATAL
Every so often one of your golfing playmates will make some sort of a silly shot that gets him into plenty of bother by lifting his head too quickly to see where his ball is going. I played with a chap who finished a hole in five and on the next tee confessed that he could not remember hitting a solitary shot. His mind was out in left field somewhere. Another time I was playing a round with Bobby Jones. Bob had been shooting a beautiful game and had the record of the course at his mercy. In practice round Jones cares little about record scores, but this day he was scoring low in spite of himself.

The twelfth hole was a drive-and-pitch affair, and he drove well down the middle. With a good lie and caught a difficult shot, the green he half-pitched the pitch and his ball scampered over into a horrible trap. He holed out in six. Walking towards the next tee he said, "That is the last time I will play a shot like that."

"What did you do?" I asked.

"Oh, nothing," he said, the disgruntled rejoinder: "Just inattention!" I called you here and now that was the time during the championship, which incidentally he won, that he allowed inattentiveness to creep into his play. Concentration in golf is something that must be developed in practice. One can't walk around eighteen holes of golf and keep his mind on the game on the practice field as he can, for example, Johnny McDermott.

TOOK-OFF FOR WEST AFRICA

No Word From Hinkler Following Departure From Brazil Wednesday

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 26 (AP).—An aéro-postal message from Natal today said Bert Hinkler, noted British flyer, had started from there yesterday for Dakar, French West Africa, and had not been heard from since the take-off.

Captain Bert Hinkler, who has made a number of long-distance flights, covered the distance from England to Australia in fifteen days in 1928. That was a record then and it stood for two years, until Charles Kingsford-Smith made the flight in ten days in 1930. Last month Hinkler flew from New York to Kingston, Jamaica, in seven hours and forty-five minutes, a record for that distance, and continued on down through the Caribbean to Natal, Brazil. Should he succeed in a flight from Natal to Dakar, West Africa, an undertaking he is reported to have attempted, he would be the first aviator to cross the South Atlantic from west to east.

Dakar is something more than 1,500 miles in an air line from Natal. It is only a comparatively short distance from Cape Verde Islands, which lie off the African west coast.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, expects to open next year its eleventh bridge across the Vltava.

Fur Prices Swing High at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Nov. 26 (CP).—Prices for furs at the first auction sale of the season here today swung higher than auction officials expected. Nearly all articles advanced about 10 per cent from quoted prices.

Half and three-quarter silver fox furs sold for as high as $71, general prices ranging from that figure down to $42.25. CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A SLIP AND A SEAM

Lapses, or in the vernacular, "a slip of the tongue," is responsible for many old happenings in the relations between human beings. Recently I was told of a grand slam bid by reason of a slip of the tongue and the making of it required nothing except the taking of three fineses and the shortening of the long trump hand twice in order to establish the coup position.

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

East and West not vulnerable.

When West passed South's opening bid of one spade, North, who had an extremely strong hand, one that appeared plenty big enough to guarantee a slam in some declarations, mentally reviewed the possibilities. "If," he thought, "South's spade suit is sold save for the king which I hold, then a slam should be made in spades. North was a true conservative. He hated to force with a four-card suit, and then he considered the possibility of a bid of no trump, but there was no possibility of making a force in no trump.

Meanwhile East impatiently turned to North and said: "Did you bid?"

North's trend of thought was interrupted. "Seven spades," was the immediate answer, and East passed.

BUFFALOES WILL BE SLAUGHTERED

Herd at Wainwright National Park Will Be Reduced by 1,500 Next Week

WINNIPEG, Nov. 26.—Echoes of story-book days on the Western plains will be heard next week at Wainwright National Park. In one immense round-up, 1,500 animals from Canada's great herd of bison at Wainwright Park will be slaughtered to provide buffalo steaks and fur coats for many Canadians.

A train of thirty empty refrigerator cars of the Canadian National Railways was dispatched from Winnipeg to Wainwright today to be in readiness for shipments of buffalo steaks to all parts of the Dominion. These cars are specially equipped with 6,000 meat hooks, and each car will be loaded with fifty buffalo carcasses.

Arrangements have been made for shipments of buffalo meat to Montreal and Toronto, in Eastern Canada.

LONDON WOOL SALES

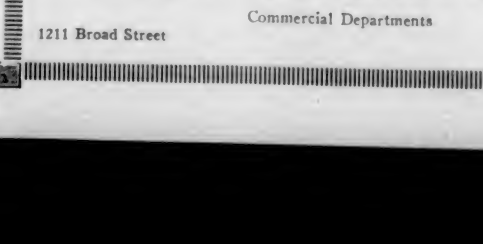

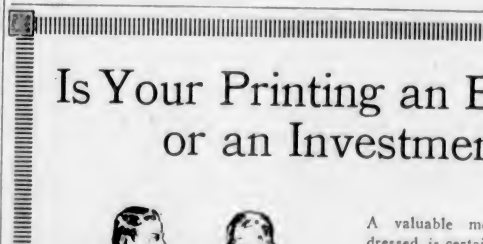

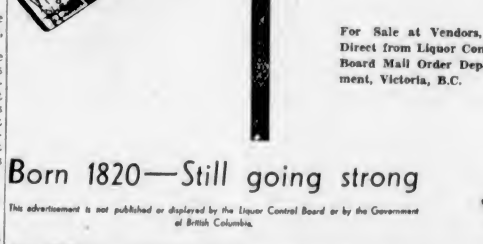

LONDON, Nov. 26 (CP).—A superior selection and spirited competition today featured the wool sales in which prices were fully up to the level of yesterday. Greasy Merinos, however, were frequently withdrawn owing to high limits demanded by sellers.

Scoured Merinos from Victoria fetched 42 cents per pound; Queensland Merinos, 41 cents; greasy Victorian, 28 cents; South African wools were quoted at 10 per cent to 15 per cent higher, but 125 bales offered were withdrawn.

Is Your Printing an Expense or an Investment?

A valuable message, properly addressed, is certain to reach your client. Having reached him, will it arrest his attention and arouse his interest? If it fails, your effort and expense are wasted.

Many business men destroy the effectiveness of a message by the use of printing and paper so tawdry that it at once creates the impression that its contents are of little value.

Colonist Printing, Lithographing or Embossing—intelligently planned and well executed—means an increase in effectiveness at a reasonable cost.

A favorite topic of discussion and dispute among the Talmudic philosophers used to be: "How many angels can dance on the head of a pin?" And this despite the fact that no angel was ever known to have selected such a location on which to prance.

In the same way, for centuries people have discussed and disputed the warming of "cockles" in the heart, though nobody has ever yet succeeded in locating one in that organ. To connect the two is the theory that it is because of the general resemblance between the human heart and the cockle shell, the base of the heart being compared to the hinge of the bivalve, that the expression arose.

An interesting coincidence which may have something to do with it is the fact that the scientific name for the cockle shell family is "cardium," meaning "heart," from the Latin, which took it from the Greek.

OPERATION FOR GOITRE LESS DANGEROUS

Before undergoing an operation for removal of goitre, the patient must naturally ask himself whether his or her case is severe enough to need an operation, what the chances of success are likely to be, and also what danger is there in the operation itself.

In former days the operation for the removal of goitre was attended with considerable danger and patients often traveled hundreds of miles to have it performed. Nowadays every town and city has surgeons who are able to show brilliant and safe results.

Dr. A. H. Noehren, Buffalo, states that three months after operation in a series of 100 consecutive operations for removal of goitre, ninety-three per cent of the patients reported either satisfactory improvement or a complete cure.

As you know the outstanding symptoms in goitre are loss of weight, rapid pulse or heart beat, and the increased speed of the various processes in the body.

The average weight gained by the majority of these cases was about nine pounds. The average heart rate before operation was about 105 beats to the minute. After operation the average heart rate was about eighty-seven beats to the minute.

In regard to the increased rate of speed in the various building up and tearing down processes in the body, before operation this was twenty-eight per cent above normal, and after the operation it was eight per cent above.

Taking all the factors into consideration Dr. Noehren would place the proportion of cures three months after the operation as somewhere between eighty and ninety per cent. With a cure of eighty to ninety per cent, and only one death in the whole one hundred cases, the operation for the removal of goitre seems to offer the best chance of cure in most cases of goitre.

Now there are different kinds and degrees of goitre. Rest and daily doses of iodine will cure some of the simple forms. The use of the X-ray and of radium has cured many cases where operation was refused or was considered inadvisable.

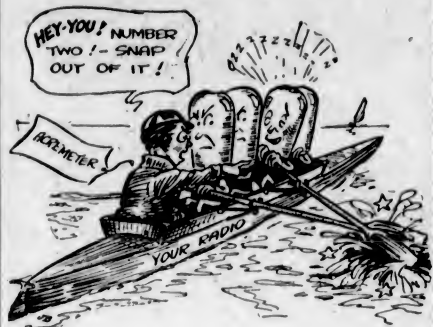

It is gratifying to know that where operation must be undergone, that the results are so satisfactory, and the danger so slight.

Farmer Brown's Boy Sees Bighorn

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Each one some talent doth possess
To make a living a success.
—Old Mother Nature.

Of course, if we do not make the best possible use of such talents as we have been given we cannot hope to attain success. And what is success for one may be failure for another. Success does not necessarily mean the doing of great things; it means making the most of such opportunities as you may have. So one with few opportunities who makes the most of these is as truly successful as one who makes the most of great opportunities. Old Mother Nature has given to each certain talents peculiarly adapted to the needs of life in the locality where each must live. Who makes the best use of these talents lives successfully.

To Farmer Brown's Boy the steep, barren rocky upper slopes and rock slides of the great mountains seemed the last place in all the Great West where anyone could live or would want to live, yet he had found Whistler the Marmot and Little Chief the Pika and Billy Burefoot the Mountain Goat living there, and to judge by what he had seen, happy and content with no desire to live elsewhere. And this was true, for to each had been given certain talents peculiarly fitting him, for life in such surroundings so that he could succeed where others would fail. Thus Billy had been given surefootedness, perfect balance, fearlessness in climbing steep rocks and a warm white coat for double protection. All these Billy had made the best possible use of, so that he not only lived well and happily on those inhospitable mountain slopes, but had no desire to live anywhere else. He had made a success of living.

Farmer Brown's Boy was thinking of these things as he climbed the upper slopes of a neighboring mountain and wondering if he would find there anyone else as well adapted to life amid such bleak and forbidding surroundings. At the foot of the mountain he had passed through a forest of great trees. The higher he climbed the smaller became the trees, until they were no longer as high as his head and at last ceased altogether. He was above the tree line. Above were rocky slopes and might; cliffs. It was a world of rock with grasses and other low-lying plants only in sheltered places. He sat down in the shelter of a big rock, for the wind was strong and not too warm, and he was tired and heated and out of breath.

Not a living thing had he seen since leaving the trees behind. There had been no sharp warning whistle of a Marmot, no bleating bark of a Pika or Cony, no glimpse of Talons the Golden Eagle, nothing to indicate that anyone lived in these rocky wastes. From where he sat he had a wonderful view of magnificent cliffs and crags and towering snow-capped peaks. It was truly magnificent and awesome, but at the same time it was desolate.

"Bighorn!" he exclaimed under his breath.

"No matter how grand a scene may be without some living thing it is depressing and gives one a feeling of desolation," thought he. "From here I cannot see even a green plant, nothing but rock and white snow-caps. It is wonderful, but it needs life to make it anything but desolate."

And then Farmer Brown's Boy gave a little gasp of surprise, delight and excitement and for a moment held his breath. In that moment the whole scene had undergone a wonderful change. It was no longer desolate, for with head held high, outlined sharply against the sky, a newcomer had stepped out on a ledge high above him. His coat was greyish brown, somewhat like that of Lightfoot the Deer, with a creamy pale patch around the tail, which was very short. He was about the size of Lightfoot, but his legs lacked the slim grace of the latter's and he was heavier built with a thicker neck. Nor did he have spreading graceful antlers like those of Lightfoot. Instead he wore a pair of great thick horns that curved up over his head and out and down on either side of his face, the tips even turning upward again.

Farmer Brown's Boy never had seen him before, but knew him instantly. "Bighorn!" he exclaimed under his breath. "Bighorn the Mountain Sheep! He is magnificent. Never will I forget this sight."

The next story: "A Mountaineer at Home."

Ice Manufacturers
Will Convene Here

The first convention to be held in Victoria next year will be that of the ice manufacturers of the Pacific Northwest, who will gather here in conference late in January. It was announced yesterday by W. B. Wilson, of the B. Wilson Company, Limited, who stated that his firm would be hosts to others of the Northwest district.

The definite date for the convention has not been set as reports from delegates to the national convention in San Antonio, Tex., held from November 17 to 20, have not been received. It is understood that practically every ice-making firm of the Northwest will be represented.
